GOP's Labor Plans Hit by Schwellenbach

WASHINGTON—(UP)—Secretary of Labor Lewis B. Schwellenbach charged today that the major strike-control bills backed by Republicans would actually impede labor peace and throw the nation into a period of "industrial chaos."

His attack, and especially his criticism of the GOP's Ball-Taft-Smith bill, indicated clearly that the administration and the Republican congress still are far apart on labor legislation.

Testifying before the senate labor committee, Schwellenbach carries the tentative endorsement of Republican senate leaders.

He also lashed out at separate measures by Sen. Joseph H. Ball, R., Minn., to outlaw the closed shop and industrywide bargaining.

"If the congress wants to start out deliberately to create industrial strife for a period of about six months, it could choose no better course than this," Schwellenbach said of the anti-closed shop bill.

He made no affirmative recommendations except to urge establishment of the labor study commission by President Truman. He particularly urged that any changes in the Wagner Labor Relations act be considered by that commission—or by special congressional subcommittees if congress refused to create the commission.

Lists Objections.

Schwellenbach's 54-page statement included these comments on major provisions of the B-T-S bill:

On a federal mediation board—"I am convinced that a mediation board would impede industrial peace rather than further it."

On denying Wagner act protection for unionization of supervisors—"I think that supervisory employes are entitled to organize and to bargain collectively with their employers, provided that they do not belong to the union to which the production employes of the employer belong or to any union dominated or controlled by the union to which the production employes belong." (Under present national labor relations board policy, legislation would be required to exclude supervisors from production workers' unions.)

On authorizing breach-of-contract suits against unions—"since the field of necessary legislative action is so narrow, I see no reason why the gates of the federal courts should be opened so wide as to invite litigation as is done by this proposed section."

CLOSED SHOP FIGHT LOOMS

'Big Steel' Girds to Defend Rejection of CIO Demands For Exclusive Rights.

PITTSBURGH —(INS)—Negotiators for "big steel" girded today for "stormy" bargaining sessions as a result of their rejection of the CIO-United Steel Workers demand for a union shop.

U. S. Steel served notice on President Philip Murray of the USW and CIO, that they would vigorously resist the union's request, which requires all employes to join the labor body within a specified time after they are hired.

The steel corporation's counter proposals were laid on the bargaining table at the second conference and were accepted by Murray without comment.

"Big Steel's" proposal insisted upon greater productivity of the workers and the right for employes to determine for themselves whether or not they wish to become members of the union.

* * *

Demand Control.

The proposal handed to Murray by Vice President John A. Stephens, chief negotiator for the corporation, set forth that the five subsidiaries are insistent upon retaining fulll management control over hiring, firing, wage incentives, maintenance of discipline and other activities.

Management also asked that the 1947 contract obligate each employe to perform a "fair day's work for a fair day's pay." The proposal also demanded that both the union and the corporation be bound by a no-strike, no-lockout pledge, by penalties for failure to live up to the agreement and by compulsory arbitration.

Stephen refrained from talking in view of the agreement reached last Friday by management and labor to extend the existing contract until April 30, by which time, a company spokesman said, they hoped the portal-to-portal confusion will be settled by either legislation or a court decision.

U. S. Steel made known its counter proposals as more than 175,000 employes of its five subsidiaries had been awarded $49,000,000 in wage agreements and retroactive pay in settlement of the 1944 contract.

Corporation negotiations dealt exclusively with non-economic or non-cost matters with the exception of the wage-cost consideration of the new agreement.

2 SEEK SERVICE DIRECTOR'S JOB

Mayor Roy W. Vaughn said today he plans to announce the name of the Mansfield's new service-safety director tomorrow.

The appointee will replace William W. Enlow whose resignation from the $3,420-a-year directorship becomes effective Friday.

The mayor said that as of this morning he had only two men under consideration for the job. Barring a last minute change of plans "one of the two men will be appointed," the mayor said.

One applicant, 32, has been a resident of Mansfield for a comparatively short time. The other applicant is a long-time resident of the city and is 65 years old. Vaughn asked that both names be withheld until a decision is reached.

The mayor, who appoints the director, named Enlow to the position a little more than a year ago. Enlow, in a letter to the mayor, said he is resigning because the job "has assumed proportions I no longer care to assume."

This General Knows How to Change Spots

NANKING—(AP)—It could happen only in China.

Gen. Ho Peng-Chu, who has been commanding 50,000 Chinese Communist troops in their battles against government forces along the critical Kiangsu-Shantung border, decided it wasn't a very satisfactory way of life—so now he is commanding a government army instead. Same troops, too!

The official Central News agency reported the switch today, with much supporting detail. General Ho's latest fence-jumping is his fourth such swap, the government agency related.

During the war, the former national government militarist became commander of Chinese Puppet (anti-government, pro-Japanese) troops in the Hsuchow-Haichow area. After Japan's surrender, he reappeared, beaming, as a government army officer, and evidently all was forgiven.

In January, 1946, he moved to the Chinese Communist camp, taking command of the Communists' "Democratic reconstruction joint army," which for the past year has fought government troops along the Shantung province border.

Five days ago, in an exchange of messages with the opposing government commanders at Hsuchow, he expressed dissatisfaction with Communist life. And yesterday, he appeared at the Lunghai railroad town of Haichow—bringinging his four bewildered divisions with him.

FAIL TO AGREE

CINCINNATI—(U.P.)—Wage negotiations between the United Rubber Workers (CIO) and the "Big Four" rubber companies today continued with no agreement reached in addition to a contract covering 30,000 employes of the U. S. Rubber company which was signed here Saturday.

CANDIDATES HAVE 8 DAYS LEFT TO FILE

Deadline Rapidly Approaches For Municipal Primary Scheduled May 6.

Prospective candidates for political office in Mansfield received a "better hurry" warning today.

Thomas Zeigler, clerk of the board of elections, reminded that only eight days remain for the filing of candidates.

Candidates for all political offices in Mansfield, except that of municipal judge, must file their petitions of candidacy with the board 90 days in advance of the primary election on May 6. That makes Feb. 5 the deadline for filing of candidacies.

* * *

Shelby Deadline March 7.

In Shelby candidates have more leeway.

Zeigler explained that Shelby's charter form of government provides that candidacies must be declared there no more than 60 days in advance of the municipal primary. Consequently, Shelby's prospective candidates need not file their petitions until March 7.

All elective offices, except that of municipal judge, will be filled by voters of the two cities at the general election Nov. 4. The candidates who will contest in that election will be selected at the May 6 primary by voters of the Democratic and Republican parties.

As yet, no candidates have filed petitions either in Mansfield or in Shelby, Zeigler reported.

* * *

Judgeship Non-Partisan.

As non-partisan candidates, those wishing to run for the municipal judgeship have until 60 days before the November general election—or March 7—to file their petitions.

Mansfield offices slated for balloting in the primary election include: mayor, solicitor, auditor, treasurer, six ward councilmen and three councilmen-at-large.

In Shelby the candidates to be elected are those for mayor, director of finance and public record, director of law, four ward councilmen and one councilman-at- large.

MAN WHO FOUNDED ROTARY CLUB DIES

CHICAGO —(AP)— Paul P. Harris, who in 1905 organized the first Rotary club and whose work in the organization which became world-wide won him numerous honors from citizens and governments, died last night after a long illness. Harris, a Chicago lawyer, was 78.

Harris had seen Rotary grow from a single club with a few members in Chicago to 5,638 clubs in 75 countries with more than 259,000 members. He was founder in 1910 of the National Association of Rotary Clubs, which became international in 1922.

A GRIEVING MOTHER HUNTS LOST PICTURE

A grieving Chicagoan asked The News-Journal today for help.

"My brother died in the Mansfield (Ohio) train wreck Dec. 13," said a letter signed "M. Krautblatt."

"He drew a picture for my mother for Christmas and before he died he kept saying he must bring the paper home. It is red and gold.

"I wonder if you could run a piece in your paper and say the dying soldier wanted his mother to have this picture.

"Just ask if anyone found a picture in the Mansfield train wreck. The colors were red and gold.

"Tell them to mail it to your paper and I'll send a reward. You mail it to me if you can find the paper.

"In our trouble we forgot to write sooner and were expecting his belongings but some one took them, but we only want the picture."

"P. S.—Picture may be signed 'E.K.' or 'Edwin Krautblatt' or 'private' or something like these."

The letter was signed: "M. Krautblatt, 4806 North Avers avenue, Chicago 25, Ill."

Private Krautblatt, the train wreck victim, died in General Hospital the day following the wreck of the Pennsylvania Golden Triangle.

He had been pinned in the wreckage for six hours. The wreck took a total of 19 lives.

Eight Enlist to Give Navy 'Flying Start'

The navy reported eight enlistments in V-6 inactive reserve Monday, the first day of Naval Reserve week. Lt. Cmdr. A. E. Heiser counted the eight and announced the enlistment drive was off to a "flying start."

With a display of the navy's latest techniques, "The Navy on Wheels," open for public inspection at Central park, and with a deep sea diver scheduled to appear at 3:30 p. m. today, Heiser said many people were familiarizing themselves with this type of equipment and education for the first time.

O'Neil's department store is featuring this week a window dedicated to the drive. It includes photos of the navy's ships and planes in action, a large board on which are mounted samples of the navy's various light caliber ammunition, a naval bomb, and other naval equipment.

Uniformed Drill Tonight.

A uniformed drill of Division 195 of the Mansfield naval reserve at 7:30 p. m. in the Memorial building, and the appearance of Lt. Cmdr. W. E. Medford, of the Columbus naval station, before the Mansfield Co-operative club at 6:30 p. m. in the Mansfield-Leland hotel, round out today's navy program, Heiser said.

Enlisted in the first day of the V-6 recruiting drive were Wesley C. Willner, Mansfield R. D. 4; Richard J. Apple, 472 Lily street; Charles E. Beal, 102 Mendota street and Henry J. Leiper, 149 Lexington avenue, all of Mansfield; Richard H. Jordan and William F. Aber jr. both of Loudonville; Jack D. Wilson of Galion, and James G. Thurkell of Pittsburgh, Pa.

The Mansfield naval recruiting station, second floor of the Post Office building, will be open from 8 a. m. until 11 p. m. daily during the week of the drive, Cmdr. Heiser said.

BRITISH FEAR FOR SUBJECTS IN HOLY LAND

LONDON — (AP) — Colonial Secretary Arthur Creech Jones told the House of Commons today British women and children might be removed from Palestine to protect them from extremist violence.

A concentration of British civilian personnel also, is "under active consideration," the Colonial secretary announced.

He said the government meanwhile would continue to give unreserved support to Palestine civil and military authorities in efforts to end what he said was a reign of "terrorism."

Meanwhile British authorities, who threaten martial law for about half Palestine's Jewish population, pressed a house-to-house search of still another Jewish community today for two important Britons who were kidnapped by Zionists.

Having combed out Tel Aviv and the slum areas of Jerusalem, British troops methodically searched the Jewish township of Petah Tiqvah in the belief that Judge Ralph Windham is detained there. A dawn-to-dusk curfew was imposed there.

The judge was snatched from his desk in Tel Aviv yesterday, scarcely 18 hours after Banker H. A. I. Collins was kidnapped at Jerusalem on Sunday.

The British were ready to impose martial law over much of Palestine unless the underground kidnapers release the two Britons unharmed.

PROBATE JUDGE DIES

CINCINNATI — (U.P.) — Probate Judge Frank S. Bonham, 61, who was re-elected to the Hamilton county bench in 1944, died last night following a heart attack.

JUDGE RULES SUGAR RATION PLAN ILLEGAL

Decision in Industrial Case Might Force Household Rationing to End.

WASHINGTON — (INS)— District Judge F. Dickinson Letts signed a judgment today which government attorneys said makes the entire industrial sugar rationing program illegal.

Judge Letts denied a government motion for a stay in execution of the judgment, pending an appeal to a higher court.

Government attorneys said they would immediately ask the court of appeals to stay Judge Letts' decision until it can hear an appeal.

The judgment was given in a suit brought against sugar ration officials by the Moberly Milk Products Co., of Morberly, Mo. The Moberly company charged that it was not getting its fair share of sugar available to industrial users.

Judge Letts found that the entire "historic use" system upon which industrial sugar rationing is based is invalid under the War Mobilization and Reconversion act.

Refuses Delay.

He refused the government motion for a stay of judgment on the ground that in so doing, he would be condoning continuance of an invalid ration order.

Carl A. Auerbach, general counsel of the price control branch of the Office of Temporary Controls, asked the stay on the grounds that abandonment of the ration program at this time would do "irreparable damage to the public."

Ration officials have expressed doubt as to whether they can devise a satisfactory substitute for the present industrial sugar rationing program.

They also fear that without an industrial program, they will be forced to abandon the consumer rationing program which channels sugar to householders.

ELEVEN AIRMEN DIE IN CRASH

ALBUQUERQUE, N. M.—(AP)—Engine trouble was officially advanced today as the likely cause of a B-29 Superfortress crash which carried 11 men to fiery deaths at the army's Kirtland field.

Laden with secret equipment, the big ship wavered on the takeoff, climbed no more than 200 feet and cracked up and burned in a narrow gully yesterday just south of the field's mile and a half-long main runway.

One member of the 12-man crew survived, rescued by a pair of GI firefighters. Hospital attendants gave him a fair chance to recover.

Officers said soldier's medal citations were being considered for the firemen—Cpl. Isabel Guzman, 23, Laredo, Tex., and Sgt. Eldon C. Hawkins, 30, Oxnard, Calif. Risking an explosion, they also pulled another crewman out but he died soon afterward.

Saw Engine Smoking.

Col. Perry M. Hoisington, Kirtland commandant, reported one engine of the plane was seen smoking and probably caught fire. He ventured a guess that another on the same side, also may have gone out of commission. This, he observed, would have left the pilot, 27-year-old Capt. Robert T. Bledsoe of El Paso, Tex., without directional control.

Police Grill Wife Of Murder Victim

CANTON—(INS)—Stark county sheriff's deputies said they would question today Mrs. Elizabeth Fogle, 47, about the shot-gun murder of her husband last night.

A deputies' report said that the woman fired a blast from a .12 gauge shotgun into the right shoulder of her husband, George Fogle, 51, killing him instantly.

SINGERS SCORE AGAIN IN CONCERT WITH MORGAN AS FEATURED ARTIST

By NITA BRANSON

Mansfielders gave the Mastersingers their approval again last night as the men's choral group presented its second concert before a capacity audience in John Simpson auditorium.

Making the concert a double treat was Mac Morgan, popular young baritone, who was enthusiastically received in his first recital in Mansfield.

The audience learned last night that Robert Marshall, tenor, who was featured with the Mastersingers in their first concert last summer, will be the soloist again on the group's next program June 16.

From the reverent "The Omnipotence" which opened the Mastersingers' program to the stirring "Battle Hymn of the Republic," sung twice at the close of the concert, the 50-voice group won the applause of the audience.

* * *

A HIGHLIGHT of the program was "The Lost Chord," a special arrangement by Fred Waring, featuring Max Clay as the soloist. The softly muted obligato of a girls' trio, including Beverly Wentz, Marjorie Selby and Marian Gilbert, added to its interest.

In their second group of songs, the Mastersingers chose the stirring hymn of the Welshmen, "March of the Men of Harlech," the lovely "Pale Moon" and the whimsical "The Whiffenpoof Song."

* * *

WHEN THE AUDIENCE demanded an encore, A. LeMoine Derr, chorus director, was all set for it.

"You'll remember last summer that we didn't have an encore," he said. "This time we're ready for you."

So the chorus sang three encores, the amusing "Four Mosquitoes," "On Parade," and "Stout-Hearted Men."

Morgan's first group of songs showed his unusual range of voice and excellent vocal control. The group included "Preach Not Me Your Musty Rules," by Dr. Arne; "Star Vicino," by Salvator Rosa, "Tu Lo Sai," by Guiseppi Torelli and the aria, "Vision Fugitive" from Herodiad, by Massenet, one of his finest during the program.

He substituted Oley Speaks's "Morning" for "Pleading" by A. Walter Kramer, a substitution which the audience thoroughly approved. His "Were You There," the hushed prayerful question of the crucifixion, left the audience silent for a moment before it broke into fervent applause. Although Morgan sang the number in almost whispered tones, his words were clearly heard at the back of the auditorium.

He, too, was generous with encores, singing Vincent Youmans's "Without a Song," and the familiar "Drink to Me Only With Thine Eyes."

* * *

A HUSKY curly-haired fellow, Morgan has an engaging personality and the ability to take his audience into his confidence. He's best known for his Friday night radio program, "Highways of Melody."

For the final number, the chorus sang "The Battle Hymn of the Republic." Morgan sang the second verse as a solo. Mrs. Margaret Hall and Dr. F. A. Hoffman, playing two pianos, accompanied the singers in the stirring finale.

WINTER'S HERE— ONLY FOR A DAY

Winter scheduled only a one-day stand for Mansfield today as forecasters again predicted warmer weather in the offing.

And the hoary old fellow, traditionally pictured as wearing icicles and breathing frost and snow, was making a rather disinterested appearance, with bright sunshine giving the atmosphere a touch of nippy autumn weather.

The official forecast for Ohio was somewhat colder today and tonight, with cloudy skies, moderate temperatures and rain in store for tomorrow.

The mercury hit a high of 51 degrees yesterday at Hayesville, while the low this morning was 29.

Probe Reveals Evidence, Says State Director

Investigation of Club Permits Issued In Cleveland at Year's End Extends To Other Northern Ohio Cities

COLUMBUS—(AP)—Liquor Director Stanley J. Cofall said today he "definitely" had found evidence of fraud in the issuance of liquor permits in the closing days of the Lausche administration.

Cofall's statement followed closely on the heels of the revelation last night by former Governor Frank J. Lausche that persons he had trusted "betrayed" him when he ordered the issuance of liquor permits halted three days before he left office.

Cofall made his announcement upon his return from Cleveland, where 11 special inspectors on leave from the state highway patrol are investigating the issuance of 25 private club liquor permits.

Cofall declined to give details of his findings pending completion of the inquiry, which he said would take about two weeks.

Lausche, who left office as governor Jan. 13, declared:

"People in whom I had trust and on whom I had a right to rely betrayed me."

* * *

Omits Details.

He made the comment, without elaborating, in connection with the current investigation of liquor licenses, which today was extended from Cleveland to other northern Ohio cities.

Lausche said that on Jan. 10 he telephoned from Cleveland to his office in Columbus, directing that the state liquor department be instructed to "issue no further permits."

Meanwhile, Attorney General Hugh S. Jenkins deployed a force of investigators to Akron, Canton, Youngstown and Warren. Eleven of the investigators, borrowed from the state highway patrol, have been checking private clubs in Cuyahoga county which received liquor permits in the early part of January.

* * *

Clubs Checked.

Jenkins says the purpose of the investigation is to see whether the clubs were legitimately organized, or just "fronts" for places which serve liquor after legal hours.

In Columbus John Lokar, who was secretary to Lausche while he was governor, said he received the call from Lausche, but was uncertain as to the date, placing it about Jan. 8 or 9.

Lokar said Lausche "wanted me to call the liquor department and state that positively, under no circumstances, were any liquor permits to be issued. I immediately called Pat Radican, executive assistant to Director Robert M. Sohngen. Sohngen was not in his office, and that is why I gave the message to Radican.

"I told Pat that positively, under no circumstances—I recall the exact words—were any permits to be issued," said Lokar, who added:

* * *

Gave Warning.

"I warned Radican to make sure the message got around because we had a lot of Republican holdovers in the liquor department and we were afraid they might try to violate the governor's freeze order."

Jenkins said one D-5 (night club) license was among the 25 permits in greater Cleveland which were issued between Jan. 1 and 13, when the Lausche administration left office, although night club licenses were frozen throughout the state.

Court Upholds Gas Rate Hike In Crawford

CINCINNATI —(INS)— The Ohio Fuel Gas company can charge its customers in Crestline and Bucyrus the higher rates allowed in July, 1943, by city ordinance.

The Sixth U. S. Circuit court of appeals affirmed yesterday the ruling of the U. S. Judge Robert N. Wilkin of Cleveland upholding the increase.

The OPA sought an injunction in 1944 restraining the company from effecting the increase which had been allowed by a city ordinance passed in 1940. The court held that the rates had been determined prior to the passage of OPA, and, therefore, the increase could not be barred.

STEWART GETS COURT POST

Herbert Picks Former Rival To Fill State Supreme Court Vacancy.

COLUMBUS —(INS)— Gov. Herbert appointed Cincinnati Mayor James Garfield Stewart to the state supreme court today effective March 1.

Stewart will succeed Judge Charles S. Bell, also of Cincinnati, who notified Herbert last night that he is resigning as of that date to accept appointment by the governor to the Hamilton county common pleas bench.

Fulfills Ambition.

Stewart, who is 66, is one year older than Judge Bell. Herbert said the appointment would fulfill Stewart's ambition of many years.

Both Stewart and Bell will have to run for re-election in the 1948 balloting.

Herbert's appointment of Stewart was seen as a new move to cement the solidarity of the Ohio Republican party. It was recalled that Stewart, the 1944 gubernatorial nominee, defeated Herbert in that year's bitter primary contest.

Stewart remained out of the gubernatorial primary last year and the appointment could be considered as a reward for his forbearance.

Bell is resigning from the new six-year term to which he was just elected last November because of health reasons and a desire to return to the county court post he previously held.

Hamilton county judges receive $11,700 annually, or only $300 less than Stewart will receive as a supreme court jurist.

Stewart's resignation as mayor of Cincinnati, where he was serving his fifth term, is expected to result in the election of Councilman Willis Gradison as mayor. Gradison now is chairman of the council's finance committee.

YOUTH 'FORGOT' LOCKED RUDDER

COPENHAGEN — (INS) — The mechanic responsible for removing rudderlocks from the Dutch airliner which crashed Sunday after taking off from Copenhagen airport was reported today to have admitted he does not recall having fulfilled this duty.

As a result, Copenhagen newspapers were almost unanimous in their acceptance of the theory that a locked rudder caused the disaster in which American opera star Grace Moore, Swedish Prince Gustav Adolf and 20 other persons perished.

Investigation continued, however, with Dutch and Danish officials endeavoring to determine officially what caused the huge Dakota transport to plunge to earth after rising several hundred feed into the skies above the airport.

According to the Danish newspaper, Berlinske Tilende, a 19-year-old apprentice told an investigation commission that he does not remember removing the rudder locks.

The boy, said to have been working for the K. L. M. airline three weeks, was reportedly pinch-hitting for a master mechanic who was on vacation. He was said to have been responsible for removing wheel chocks and the rudder locks.

Fashions Floor Him

WASHINGTON— (U.P.)—As president of the husbands' protetctive league, I have been giving female fashions for spring my close attention. There ought to be a law.

The high-binders who design clothes for ladies have sneaked over such a fast one this time that the feminine population is getting ready to re-clothe itself from the skin out.

No dress that a woman has in her closet from last year is fit to wear this year. It is out of style; makes her look like a frump. The fashion people, fellow husbands, have thrown the book at us; the check-book.

For two long years the city slickers worked on making women's shoulders look like football players'. They finally lured the ladies into sewing shoulder pads into every suit, dress, and blouse they owned. They even put shoulder pads in night gowns.

* * *

THE DRESSMAKERS then changed their minds. Any woman who appears in public today with Jack Dempsey style shoulders is an object of pity. The 1947 shoulder has got to slope, like nature intended originally.

How many billions of dollars are invested in women's suits I hate to estimate; I know only that the investment is worthless now.

Suits for ladies in 1946 were neat. They were trim. Their jackets were short. I liked 'em, but little good that does now because any woman who is anybody today has got to look in her suit like Sen. Clyde R. Hoey of N. C.

He is the last remaining lawmaker addicted to swallow-tail coats. On him they look good; how they're going to look on the ladies I wouldn't know.

Female skirts in the recent past have been simple sheaths of cloth with a minimum of monkey business. I liked them, too. The new skirts are two inches longer than the old; in general, they bear layers of ruffles, bustles, pleats, fringe, embroidery, sequins, lace, ribbons, and automatic phonograph record players. They are the doggondest skirts for which man ever paid the bill.

* * *

LAST YEAR'S pneumonia shoes, of course, are no good now. No longer can a woman let her toes stick out. This isn't funny, not with shoes at $14 a pair.

The change in hats, I regret also to say, is revolutionary. A hat today cannot look like a strawberry box, the Tower of Piso, a hot water bottle, or the Taj Majal. The 1947 hat must be in the shape of the human head. I mean it has got to look vaguely like a hat.

I must report finally that Mrs. Judith McCann of New York has invented, patented and put on the market a new kind of ear ring, which depends on no ear-lobe clamp to stay put. It has a widget which fits inside the ear, takes the pressure off the lobe, and makes it possible for ladies to decorate their ears with small anvils, marble statues and pots of flowering geraniums.

Means last year's ear rings are no good now. I could go on, husbands, with more bad news, but what's the use? We're the patsies of the fashion designers. I only hope the pants I bought in 1944 will last another season.

WESTBROOK PEGLER

Seeks Clarification

FATHER CAVANAUGH, of Notre Dame, and other educators could promote understanding and allay suspicion by explaining to the public just what they mean by amateurism in sports, especially football, and revealing the terms on which football players are engaged. Insinuations are out of my line so I do not to mean to insinuate that Notre Dame hires or pays football players or ever did. But many college presidents long ago adopted a distinction between hiring and pay, on the one hand, and "encouragement" and "assistance" on the other, which has seemed to smack of those tax-evasions which the late President Roosevelt condemned as "clever little schemes" having the "color of legality." To me, an amateur in sports is a player who competes, not solely for fun, as the dictionaries insist, but for fun and to prove his hardy masculinity, and courage. Finding myself embarrassed just here as to the distinguished female amateurs such as Gertrude Ederle, who swam the Channel in a gale, I shall have to set aside a ladies-day at some future time, to deal with them.

If Notre Dame does waive the cost of the tuition and/or board of a football player in return for his playing then, in my opinion, he is working his way through school, football is his job and he is not an amateur but a professional. I hold the same if he must play football to qualify for paid employment at a working job or a fake job. Father Cavanaugh may hold otherwise, although I do not assert that he does or that Notre Dame engages football players on these terms. I have no doubt that if so he would be willing to say so and defend his position. And he is one who could do it in such manner as to establish in the public mind a new conception of amateurism, dispel gossip and skepticism, and, either persuade us fundamentalists or send us on our way to the bean-bag and hop-scotch tournaments.

* * *

I CONFESS that in a long career as a writer of sport to which I came equipped with a formidable set of doubts, I came across few provable cases of professionalism, but I am still convinced that professionalism was, as we often said, rampant in collegiate football. Our trouble then, as mine has continued to be in the field of cosmic commentary, was that the players, like the covert Communists of our politics, took a negative position.

Many of them, being young and of pliable mind, adopted a convenient and extreme definition of professionalism and, because they did not line up at some pay window and sign the roll, could be technically pure in heart. So, too we have had in our government since 1933, and in the union movement, many individuals who accept a hair-line distinction, drawn by the supreme court, which holds that a person is not a Communist until he openly advocates the destruction of the government by violence. He is not a Communist even though he may advocate violence for other purposes which might achieve that illicit end incidentally and, of course, unintentionally. Both these amateurs and these non-Communists are secretive, however, and put the burden of proof on us.

* * *

ONE EVENING years ago at the Mayflower in Washington Huey Long boasted to Grantland Rice and me that in order to get a tackle from a military academy in Missouri to play on Louisiana State he had to take the whole line of this extraordinary prep school team. He brought them down to Baton Rouge, and gave them mock jobs for the summer, in the state highway department and other bureaus of his dictatorship and gave one of them quarters in the official mansion then occupied by his governor, Oscar Allen. For various reasons they failed to make good so the investment didn't pay out This was flagrant, cynical professionalism, but Huey was a good lawyer and he made a good case for the amateurism of these athletes I doubt that Father Cavanaugh could have defeated his arguments.

The special matinees given free of charge for the young peoples groups will be made possible through the generosity of manufacturers and merchants of Mansfield, Joseph Hawkins, president of Local 711, said. Crippled children will be transported to the circus by the union.

Featured acts of the circus will be Bobby Hodsett's comedy aerial act, which traveled overseas with the USO for two years; Bud Lucas and his trained dogs and whip and gun artist.

1,500 See Navy's Best In Exhibition at Park

By GEORGE COMINOS

He looked like something out of Buck Rogers. Actually, he was a member of the U. S. navy—a deep sea diver— giving an exhibition of how he works below the ocean's surface.

The demonstration took place some 600 miles from an ocean, just across the street from Central park in Mansfield. The diver came to Mansfield with the Naval Reserve Mobile unit which houses the latest naval devices, including a radar unit and an anti-aircraft gun.

The navy show, here in connection with the navy's V-8 recruiting drive, was seen by about 1,500 persons yesterday. The exhibit will be open until 7 p. m. today at Central park. There will be a diving demonstration at 5 p. m., and movies early in the evening. There is no admission.

On top of one truck yesterday a screen-like affair revolved. It was a radar antenna. Inside the truck was the "seeing eye" of the navy —a radar unit

Next to the unit rested a large rubber raft of the kind credited with saving the lives of many airmen whose planes had crashed at sea.

Navy Shown In Action.

Photographs on the wall showed the navy in action: the giant guns of the battleship USS Missouri firing a blinding salvo, navy ships sinking a German submarine in the Atlantic, the USS Suwance taking a bomb hit somewhere in the Pacific.

Included is one of the USS Wisconsin, newest 45,000 ton battleship, on which Naval Reservists will soon take an Atlantic cruise.

Largest model on display was one of the USS Cleveland, painted a wartime gray, with turrets and bridge and other appurtenances duplicated. Smaller models included an aircraft carrier, a battleship, and a destroyer.

A model of a 500-pound general purpose bomb was cut away, showing the explosive, nose plug, and auxiliary booster. Alongside, armor-piercing rockets were on display together with a 100-pound aerial bomb and a 50-pound smoke bomb.

In front of the bombs a 50-caliber machine gun, cut away to show its working mechanism, was displayed. There were two Very pistols, used to shoot flares, a 12-inch signal lamp, used in communicating between ships, and a suit of high altitude flight clothing.

MRS. ALVENA SMITH DIES IN HOSPITAL

Mrs Alvena L Smith, 151 West Third street, died Monday night at General hospital after an illness of several weeks.

Born Oct 15, 1907, near Mansfield, Mrs. Smith had spent her life in this community. She was a former employe of the Dominion Electric company.

Surviving are one son, James H. of Columbus; two sisters, Mrs. Marie Lewis and Mrs Hulda Miller, Mansfield, three brothers, Harry and Carl Zigler of Mansfield, and Lloyd of Perrysville.

The body is at the Wappner funeral home where services will be held Thursday at 10 a. m. in charge of Rev. Herman L Gilbert. Burial will be in the Mansfield cemetery.

Grovers' Institute Appoints Manager

New secretary-manager of the Mansfield Independent Grocers Institute is Robert R. Black, former sales manager of the Allen Knapp Heating company Black resides at 111 Brinkerhoff avenue.

He replaces Ralph Schad, who died last April. Charles J. Stecker, clerk of city council, held the job temporarily between the time of Shad's death and Black's appointment.

Muddy Roads Keep City's Roads Muddy

Street Supt. C. H. Hebel reported today that muddy roads are making it difficult for the city to get cinders for muddy roads.

He said Mansfield draws on the Ohio Public Service company's Melco cinder supply but that currently the roads in that area are inaccessible.

A car-load of crushed stone has been ordered to off-set a shortage of cinders and slag, normally used to fill un-paved streets softened and rutted by thaws, Hebel said.

Fill slag is short, too, he said, because numerous area communities, in addition to Mansfield, draw on the Empire Steel company's supply.

FOUR DIE WHEN WIRE FENCING WRECKS TRAIN

WALTON, Ind. —(AP)— Indiana State Police, who blamed a roll of fencing for a train wreck last night which killed four people, opened an investigation today to learn how the wire got on the track.

All but two cars of the Pennsylvania Union, bound for Chicago from Cincinnati, were smashed or left the rail shortly after 7 p. m. killing the four and injuring almost a score, one seriously.

State Police Lt. John R. Fisher and A. F. McIntyre, Pennsylvania superintendent, said the roll of wire was found jammed into a switch and that caused the wreck.

Several rolls of the wire were stored in piles along the railroad track at the scene of the wreck, Fisher said.

"Apparently one of these either fell or was placed on the track and we want to know which," said Fisher.

The roll of wire was about two-feet across and weighed around 400 pounds

FBI Investigating.

W. W. Patchell of Chicago, general manager of the western region of the Pennsylvania, said that the Federal Bureau of Investigation was working with state police.

The dead are: C. A. Wisler of Richmond, Ind., fireman, and passengers, Miss Kathryn Marie Kingery, 25, Kokomo, Ind.; Walter Pischke, Kokomo; H. G. Perkinson(2029 Madison Ave.), Anderson, Ind.

Engineer N. J. Lamartine, 61, of Richmond, Ind., said of the crash which spread cars the length of this town of 800:

"I could see the station and was blowing the whistle when there was a sudden bump. I immediately threw on the air brakes, then the engine turned over."

Lamartine, suffering a cut over one eye and a sprained back, directed the work of rescuers in cutting pipes to free him. He was taken to a Logansport hospital.

The baggage coach was smashed almost flat by the impact with the locomotive tender.

Only a diner and a parlor car on the rear of the eight-coach train remained upright.

Up and Down The Street

LASSOES FISH—

It's pretty early for "fishing stories of 1947," but here's one about the lassoed fish. Mrs. Edith Metcalf of Mansfield VA office, just returned from Florida, swears it's true. Pulling a fish out of the water, she was amazed to find that the hook with the bait was dangling beside the fish. The catch had come as a result of the bait slipping up the hook and the fish becoming entwined in Mrs. Metcalf's fish line. Persons with her reported that it was the first time they'd ever seen a fish lassoed.

OBJECT LESSON—

County Dog Warden C. H. Hill today had another object lesson supporting his order of yesterday that all dogs within a two and one-half mile radius of Five Points must be kept tied at night. This time it's a report from Boyd Monn, State Route 178 near Ganges, that 16 of his ducks were killed by a black dog during the night. "That's only one example of damage caused by stray dogs. I recently caught two dogs that walked right into a woman's home and frightened her small child half to death. If people want to keep their dogs they must have them properly controlled," he said. The order to keep dogs tied in the Five Points area resulted from recent heavy loss of sheep on neighboring farms.

SALARY BOOST PLAN SHELVED BY LAWMAKERS

Senate Receives Measure To Give $184,000,000 To Ohio Schools.

COLUMBUS —(AP)— The legislature opened its flood gates today to a torrent of new bills but abandoned a plan to rush through salary increases for appointive officials taking posts next month.

Representatives said measures offered this week might surpass last week's total of 91 in the rush to beat the Feb. 10 deadline for introducing bills in the house.

The senate, which has no such deadline, received one measure last night proposing a three-member bi-partisan commission to operate the state highway department, instead of the present director. It was offered by Sen. C. I. Powell (R-Clark).

* * *

Big School Bill.

Sen. Albert L. Daniels (R-Highland) said he would introduce the Ohio Education association's bill to give public schools $184,000,000 for 1947 and 1948, nearly 56 percent more than was appropriated two years ago, and a senate subcommittee squared away for hearings on veterans' bonus payment plans.

Sen. Jack A. Persky (R-Cuyahoga), a member of the military affairs sub-committee, said he had prepared a digest of bonus plans approved or under consideration by other states to aid the deliberations.

Sen. Frank E. Whittemore (R-Summit), senate Republican leader, said an administration request to obtain legislative approval this week of substantial pay raises for appointive officials had been sidetracked because of objections from representatives.

* * *

More Time Needed.

House and senate leaders conferred with Gov. Thomas J. Herbert in an attempt to draft a bill which could be enacted before several appointive officials assumed their new terms in February but the plan was dropped last night.

Whittemore and House Speaker C. William O'Neill (R-Washington) said the lower chamber would require more time to get the measure passed despite its heavy Republican majority.

Legislators said that apparently doomed chances for reappointed members of the liquor board and public utilities commission to benefit by any increases which might be granted appointive officials soon. Statute forbids pay increases for those already in office, it was explained.

* * *

Confirmations Asked.

The governor sent to the senate for confirmation last night the reappointments of William F. Hess of Cincinnati to the liquor board and of Harry M. Miller of Gallipolis to the utilities commission.

Terms of both men, recently named chairman of their respective bodies, start Feb. 1. Hess's term will end in 1952 and Miller's in 1953.

Herbert also sent up the appointment of Raymond A. Youngcu of Mercer county to the pardon and parole commission for a term beginning yesterday and ending in 1949.

All three appointments were referred to the senate rules committee pending confirmation.

RAMS FAVORED TO NOTCH 9TH STRAIGHT WIN

Reserve Team Clash Opens Cage Twin Bill at 7:15.

By BRUCE M'GINTY

Mansfield Madison is favored to win its ninth 1946-47 cage victory against Coach Merle Hutson's Crestline quintet tonight on the Ram's hardwood.

Coach Jeff DeHaven's Madison combine has won eight consecutive victories since losing the seasonal opener to Class A Mt. Vernon.

During the winning streak, the Rams courtmen turned back two other Class A foes, namely Shelby's Whippets 31 to 23 and Willard, 40 to 31. Madison is a Class A team itself.

Crestline has won only three of its seven cage contests. The Whippets defeated Coach Hutson's cagers 50 to 29. Crestline has listed Willard, Mt. Gilead and Bucyrus as victims.

Employs Zone.

Crestline employs a zone defense which may prove very effective on the small Madison court. DeHaven's quintet alternate between a shifting man-to-man, a regular man-to-man, and zone.

The Crestline-Madison contest is the beginning of the tougher part of the Rams schedule. Within the next three weeks they take on three Class A opponents. Madison plays Shelby, Willard and Ashland, all A teams, and concludes its season with Lucas and Mt. Gilead.

DeHaven's probable line-up will have Eldon Pritchard and Herb Eldridge, forwards; Bob Wilson, center, and Dick Poth and Dick Ernsberger, guards.

In the event that Wilson is still bothered with the sprained ankle he suffered last week, Poth will start at the pivot position and Wayne Strang will play guard. Strang is the only senior on the Rams squad.

Hutson has announced that his likely starters will be Don Geherisch and Wayne Rhodus, forwards; Jack Malaby, center, and Bob Sands and Paul Winemiller, guards

Hutson plans on alternating husky Jack Zwahlen in one of the guard berths Malaby is the only Crestline cager who reaches the six foot mark.

In the first game, the Madison reserves will collide with Crestline's reserve quintet at 7:15.

2 Teams Can Tie for First

St Luke's and Ontario Community have a fine opportunity to tie for first place in the YMCA Senior church league on the "Y" court tonight.

Park Avenue Baptist leads the circuit with five wins and one defeat while St Luke's and Ontario have each won four of five contests. Park Avenue is idle this week while the other two combines see action in tonight's three-game card which begins at 7 o'clock.

St Luke's goes against First Presbyterian in the curtain raiser with Ontario playing First Lutheran in the finale. St. Matthew's meets Mayflower in the second game.

Wooster Riflemen Defeat Mansfield

WOOSTER - Wooster defeated the Mansfield Senior YMCA rifle team in a league shoot here last night, 1318 to 1280.

John Simpson Extends Home Court Streak

John Simpson junior high basketballers preserved their long home court winning streak by defeating the Ashland high school junior varsity, 31-25, last night.

The victory, achieved before a capacity crowd of nearly 800 fans, was the 18th straight triumph for the Bulldogs on their own floor. It was also the seventh victory in eight games this season for Coach Bob Kennedy's proteges.

Proceeds of the game went to the Ashland athletic department. They will be used to replace valuables lost by Ashland reserve football players during a game against Simpson last fall on the Stadium field gridiron.

With Charles Jenkins setting the scoring pace, Simpson led by quarters 7 to 6, 17 to 13 and 19 to 18. Jenkins notched six field goals and four free throws for 16 points.

Buckeyes Still After Road Win

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind. —(INS)— The Bucks of Ohio State left Indianapolis today still without their first 1946-47 basketball victory on a foreign court.

The Bucks went down to their eighth straight road defeat last night when Butler outlasted Tippy Dye's aggregation, 54 to 50.

Ohio State had an 11-point lead early in the game and continued to lead, 31 to 27, at halftime. The Bucks sagged after the intermission, however, as Charley Maas of Butler began hitting a series of one-hand shots.

Maas led the scoring with 26 points Bob Donham had 14 for Ohio and Jack Underman 12.

Dick Campbell of Ohio State and Bob Evans of Butler were banished for fighting in the final minutes.

Ohio State's junior varsity won its sixth straight without a loss by downing the Butler "B" team, 52 to 32.

Canton McKinley Rated As State's Top Quintet

By JOHN G. DIETRICH

COLUMBUS—(UP)—Tournament time lay only a few short week-ends ahead for Ohio high school basketball teams today, but not one of the state's six districts yet had a standout team earmarked for one of the four coveted state final berths.

The nearest approach to such a team probably was Canton McKinley, which ran its undefeated string to twelve over the week-end in victories over Alliance, 50-36, and Steubenville, 64-48.

Other teams have longer winning streaks, but not against the caliber of competition met by the McKinley outfit, which has often been a state tourney entry but never a winner.

McKinley Must Wade.

Even McKinley, however, must wade through the bulky northeastern district, which includes such opposition as Salem, undefeated in nine games after a 56-30 victory over Youngstown Rayen; Youngstown South, current coleader with Rayen in its city league; Canton Lehman, winner of 11 out of 12 games including a 51-44 weekend victory over Akron Kenmore; Akron North, always tough in tournament play—the list is lengthy.

In the smaller eastern district, East Liverpool stood out with a 12-1 record that included a 56-40 triumph over Toronto Friday, but had plenty of opposition left.

Martins Ferry, steadily gaining power, whipped Steubenville 75-59, Friday for its eighth win in 10 starts. Dover has won nine out of 12, including a last-gasp 37-36 squeak past luckless Zanesville Friday.

Another entry out of the misnamed Central Ohio league, Cambridge, entered the picture with a surprising 57-52 victory over potent Newark.

In the sparsely populated northeast, Marietta's in-and-outers were edged, 48-47, by Coshocton, but came back Saturday night for a decisive victory over lately sensational Columbus South. Chillicothe, which had lost two in a row after a long unbeaten streak, came back in an 81-23 romp at Circleville.

Over in the southwest, greater Cincinnati was left with only one unbeaten team, the Class B North Terrace Park. Walnut Hills, tripped up last week on Number 13, finally won it, 51-27, over Vocational.

Perennial Giants.

The perennial giants of the region, Middletown and Hamilton, collided and Hamilton's Big Blue came out with a 39-38 edge. Piqua's onrushing Indians won their tenth in a row, scraping past Miamisburg, 24-22, in a battle of ironclad zone defenses.

In the northwest, Lima South took the Greater Ohio league lead with a 47-36 win over Springfield for its sixth straight, while Findlay added to its prestige with a 66-33 breeze past Tiffin Columbian.

Toledo Woodward regained top spot in that city with a 51-27 victory that snapped Central Catholic's 11-game streak. Undefeated Bryan won its 11th, 51-37, over Napoleon.

The central district's lone unbeaten team, Upper Arlington, stayed that way with a 56-33 verdict at Delaware. North and Central remained tied for the Columbus City league lead, while Newark rebounded from its defeat at Cambridge to trounce Dayton Wilbur Wright, 70-41.

Baseball Rumors Are Cooking Between Nats, Yanks, Indians

By SID FEDER

NEW YORK—(AP)—The hot stove gave off sparks today and one of the warmer rumors had the Cleveland Indians, Washington Senators and New York Yankees cooking up a fancy three-way player deal.

This, naturally, had to do with the Tribe's long shopping trip to get Outfielder Stan Spence, the 31-year-old belter, from the Nats. The Indians had offered practically everything but Owner Bill Veeck's favorite necktie for sturdy Stanley, but Clark Griffith apparently wanted something more.

Griff is supposed to have told the Tribe he'd give up Spence, provided he could get Johnny Lindell, a fly-chaser who hit a none-too-mighty .259 last summer. But the hitch was that Lindell still sports a Yankees' monkey suit.

Bring Yanks In.

So the Tribe is reported to have brought the Yankees into the thing to get it all straighted out. What you hear about it now is that Johnny and a pitcher or Third Baseman Billy Johnson will go to Cleveland for Outfielder Felix Mackiewicz, a .260 hitter in 1946, and a hurler, and possibly Les Fleming, who could be the answer to the Yankees' prayer for a first-baseman.

With that deal complete, Veeck and Manager Lou Boudreau would be ready to sit in on the game with the Old Fox down in Washington. In their hand they'll be holding Lindell and Third-Baseman Ken Keltner, the long-ball belter from Milwaukee, and a pitcher.

They'll offer all three, the reports say, for Spence and either Marino Pieretti, the right-hand chucker from Lucca in Italy with a 2-2 record in '46, or Sid Hudson, the long right-hander who won only eight against 11 losses last season.

The Spence-to-Cleveland stew has been sizzling for weeks. Days ago the Tribe offered Keltner to get him. But apparently Griff has had his eye on Lindell for quite a spell, and probably figured if the Indians wanted Spence so badly, they'd be willing to get him the Yankee gardener.

Just when all this will come to a boil—if at all—hasn't been mentioned yet, but the word is that when Veeck and Griff and MacPhail show up for the Baseball Writers' annual eating and oratorical derby Sunday, they'll get off behind a potted palm and pass the time of day, anyway.

Hayesville Defeats Perrysville, 31-26

Now Everybody Leads City A Basketball Loop

Divisional standings in the Mansfield City A basketball league were more than muddled today.

Smokehouse and Komito's Clothiers moved ahead of Richland Beverage in the first division while Yunckers and Urschel Insurance slid back into a tie with Barnes Manufacturing for the second division lead. Barnes will have a chance to take over the second section lead Wednesday when it meets Ohio Sports Center while Richland can regain its deadlock with Smokehouse and Komito's by defeating American Legion Post 72.

Smokehouse picked up some of its lost prestige by romping over Yunckers, 37 to 25, while Komito's buried American Veterans Committee, 47 to 11, last night. It was the sixth win in seven games for each victor.

Tom Scott and Fred Lewis each rammed home 10 tallies as the Cuemen led Yunckers by quarters, 11 to 2, 25 to 9, and 37 to 19. Komito's was in the van at the intermission points, 8 to 3, 16 to 4, and 35 to 7. Long Jim Regula had 18 points for the Clothiers.

Yunckers and Urschel Insurance, which lost to Mansfield Tire and Rubber last night, 40 to 28, now have won four and lost three in the second section, same as Barnes. Urschel was never in the game against the Rubbermen and trailed at the quarters, 10 to 6, 19 to 10, and 35 to 17.

Kenny Windsor had 12 points for the Tire quintet.

Hard-Hitting New York District Attorney Has Fist Poised for Gambling Knockout Punch

By JAMES L. KILGALLEN, INS Staff Correspondent

NEW YORK—Gamblers and members of the prize fight colony were on the spot today as the district attorney's office pressed its probe of the biggest scandal of professional sports history.

Far-flung repercussions were expected on the heels of the admission of Rocky Graziano, leading contender for the middleweight title, to the grand jury that he had been offered $100,000 to throw a Madison Square Garden bout and had been "thinking about it."

Graziano, boxing's greatest drawing card except for flyweight Champion Joe Louis, finally faked a sore back to avoid the match with Cowboy Ruben Shank of Denver on which the fixers hoped to clean up half a million dollars if Rocky, a prohibitive favorite, lost the fight. The bout was called off.

District Attorney Frank S. Hogan, who doesn't believe Graziano's statement that he does not know the name of the "character" who approached him with the bribe offer in a gymnasium, took steps today which he hopes will uncover the identity of the "fixers."

Hogan has obtained 60 court orders to put telephone taps on the conversations of bookmakers, prize fight managers and well-known gamblers.

The district attorney is investigating "fixes" in two fields of professional sports. Yesterday, on the basis of prolonged "singing" by Alvin J Paris, convicted football fixer, the grand jury handed up an indictment charging Harvey Stemmer and two others with participation in the plot to frame the National Football league title play-off last fall.

Stemmer received a prison sentence last year for bribing five Brooklyn basketball players. He will plead to the indictment today. The other two men are expected to be taken into custody momentarily.

Meanwhile Paris, who had been scheduled to come up for sentencing today, will get a month's grace, with leniency in prospect.

Graziano, who made his startling revelation of the bribe offer after originally declaring he thought the whole business was "just a gag," appeared so unperturbed today that he announced he would go to Greenwood Lake, N. J., on Saturday to start training for his return bout with Tony Zale on March 21st. Rocky kept telling reporters the bribe offer was "all a big joke," a view decidedly at variance with that of the authorities.

Zale, the middleweight champion, knocked out Rocky in the sixth round of their thrilling title bout last September.

There were reports, however, that the New

EX-GI COLLEGE STUDENTS HURT BY HIGH COSTS

Subsidies Inadequate to Pay Expenses, Survey Shows.

NEW YORK —(U.P.)— The former GI Joe, now a college student, is having trouble with the high cost of living just like ordinary folks, and wants the government to do something about it.

Federal subsidies for the former servicemen in school are not adequate, especially for those who are married and trying to rear a family while getting higher education.

This condition was disclosed in a progress report of how they are doing in college, based on a survey of some 200 colleges and universities.

The government pays the veteran's tuition up to $500 yearly and also allows the single vet $65 a month and the married vet $90.

This may have been all right when the educational program was begun, the veterans report, but the allowances now are too low in view of the rising cost of living.

Some Quit School.

The survey also shows that some veterans, especially those with children, are leaving school because of financial difficulties.

The great bulk of the students, however, is meeting the test, making better than passing grades and struggling along, determined to complete the college course.

The married veterans with a child or children are at the greatest disadvantage, the survey shows, because the wife usually is unable to work. The married vet with no child has been able on most campuses to get his wife a job to help out on the expenses.

While the veterans feel that the allotments should be increased, there were only few instances reported where the vet actually expressed complaint that the government was letting him down. Virtually all the veterans are grateful for this big chance at higher education.

But they are like ordinary people in ordinary life and complaints about the high cost of living comes natural.

Manage Somehow.

Many of the students find it tough, trying to rear a family on the $90 a month and at the same time make good grades in school. They are managing it, however, the colleges report.

Only a few marriage breakups have been reported and some of these were not attributed to financial reasons.

Virtually every one of the schools polled in the survey reported that the married veteran, with his wife to encourage him, is making the best grades.

Hundreds of babies have been born on the college campuses during the last six months. In many cases, the physicians of the school's hospital or medical college have made the deliveries.

In days before the war, it was rare to have a married underclassman. Today, it is not only common but he may also be seen pushing a baby buggy around the campus.

U. S. SELLS 4,000 SURPLUS PLANES

WASHINGTON — (U.P.) — The United tates government has sold nearly 4,000 surplus Douglas DC-3 transport planes in this country and throughout the world since the war ended, inquiry disclosed today.

This type of plane, which has figured in several recent foreign air crashes including that which claimed the life of Grace Moore at Copenhagen Sunday, is easily the most widely used in the world

It was a proved type when the war started, being standard on the U. S. airlines and in most foreign countries, and became the backbone of the Army Air Transport Command There are 458 DC-3's in domestic service today, accounting for more than two-thirds of the planes flown on domestic routes.

More than 10,000 of the twin-engine, 21-passenger planes were made during the war and it is these that the government is selling or leasing as they are declared surplus by the army and navy.

Both the War Assets administration and the foreign liquidation commission, which respectively sell the planes at home and abroad, said they are purchased on an "as is" basis

Hundreds of those which were "war weary" have been junked or sold for scrap and spare parts

Mardi Gras Fun Costs Money, And Lots of It

NEW ORLEANS — (AP)-New Orleans people are spending hundreds of thousands of dollars these days to transform themselves into heroic or fantastic creatures.

A kid can become a gunsting cowboy for $4.98. A man can be monarch of all he surveys but this involves a cash outlay sometimes running into the thousands.

It's not voodoo. It's another potent form of local, magic called Mardi Gras.

* * *

THE NATIVES say it works—that the transformations are real. No New Orleans youngster, for example, has ever been known to ask "How are you going dressed for Mardi Gras?" It's always "What are you gonna be" And on Mardi Gras he IS a cowboy, proving it by shooting down passing Indians with his cap pistol.

Even the women, who know clothes are clothes, recognize the reality of royalty by fussing their inevitable questions over "What did Tillie wear" but "What did the queen wear"

It's impossible to estimate the total spent on these temporary changes of character. It might be two million. It might be ten.

A mother can make her child a clown suit with a dollar's worth of material. Or she can buy a costume at a store. Cowboy outfits, boys' Mardi Gras fantasies for decades, are running from $4.98 to $8.98 at the larger stores. Girls' most popular choice of Dutch, gypsy and crinoline dresses average a little more.

On Mardi Gras—Shrove Tuesday, falling this year on Feb 18—the kids don their transformations and go to Canal street where half a million people are gathered to hail Rex, king of carnival, as he leads his parade of painted and jewel-drawn floats through the streets.

Thousands of costumed adults generally join the crowds also, but they won't be out this year yet in pre-war numbers The stores report manufacturers still short of materials, haven't resumed the mass products of fancy dress for grownups.

* * *

A NUMBER of local tailors specialize in carnival costumes One estimated his prices as from $27.50 to $1,500." Most of these, however, are confining their efforts to supplying the several dozen organizations which put on the Mardi Gras balls.

A ball is held almost nightly from Jan 6, "Twelfth night" after Christmas, to Mardi Gras itself. Each has its king and queen with a dozen or two attending dukes and maids.

Half a dozen of the organizations stage major street parades before the balls.

The clubs run to such exotic titles as "Knights of Mars," "Krewe of Mystery" and "Nights of Persia." However, one of the most elaborate parade and balls is presented by a business men's group with the international name of "Krewe of Indicity."

The older organizations have 200 to 250 members of high society" type, and charge dues usually of about $75 If the krewe has a parade the fee may be double that. And, of course the members must get their wives new evening dresses, sometimes a new one for each of several balls

* * *

ONE OF THE FANCIER Krewes regularly spends $9000 on a ball alone. A parade of 18 or 20 mule-drawn floats will cost from $10,000 to $15,000.

Inflation has hit Mardi Gras, of course, and one Krewe captain, or general chairman, estimated costs at 60 per cent above pre-war years.

'Some Krewes are raising their dues, some drawing on cash reserves. In some, a man aiming to be king must help meet the deficit.

The king pays and pays even without that. A monarch for a night has been known to spend $10,000 on his mantle alone, and to entertain 600 guests at a champagne supper.

A queen's father, also, must lay out anything from a thousand dollars to infinity to clothe his regal daughter — plus hundreds more for the traditional "queen's supper" for the Krewe.

Clubs, fraternities and other groups spend much Mardi Gras money in decorating large trucks on which they ride about, costumed according them a decorative theme. The city pays some $35,000 on decorating streets and public buildings, flowers for the royal courts and similar items.

But nobody has ever explained who has more fun—the $4.98 cowboy or the $10,000 king.

Wisconsin 5 Leads Big 9

CHICAGO —(INS)— Wisconsin was back in undisputed possession of the Western Conference basketball leadership today by virtue of its exciting 45 to 44 triumph over Northwestern at Madison, Wis.

In another thrilling Big Nine game played last night at Lafayette, Ind., Purdue's Boilermakers had to go into overtime to defeat Minnesota, 66 to 63.

Wisconsin had to battle all the way to keep in the game with Northwestern, which was leading the Badgers, 44 to 41, in the closing minutes. This was mainly due to fancy shooting by Northwestern's Ben Schadler, who netted five baskets in a row.

But Walt Lautenbach of Wisconsin saved the game for his team when he sank two field goals to put the Badgers a point ahead at the final whistle.

Three field goals by substitute Forward Myrin (Red) Anderson gave Purdue its overtime edge on Minnesota. Minnesota's Bud Grant paced the scorers with 25 points.

Cleveland Hockey Stock Is Soaring

Cleveland stock in the western division of the American Hockey league is expected to soar once more tonight when the top-spot Barons tangle with the tail-end Flyers at St. Louis.

A Cleveland victory would place the Barons a safe six points ahead of the second-place Buffalo Bisons, who will be idle.

The Barons, who have won 14 games on the road so far this season, can set a new circuit record if they take four more out-of-town games.

Cleveland Rebels Can Balance Books

CLEVELAND—(INS)—If all goes as expected, the Cleveland Rebels will balance the books on their season's performance when Cleveland and Toronto clash tonight at the Cleveland arena.

The Rebels, thanks to their Toronto neighbors, climbed to within one victory of a .500 rating in the western division of the basketball Association of America as they whipped the Huskies, 88-82, last night in Toronto.

Major Ring Upset

CHICAGO — (INS) — A major upset in the boxing game today was credited to Gene Burton, Negro "unknown" from New York, who scored a 10-round decision over NBA Lightweight Champion Ike Williams.

Brutz Quits Grid

College Books May Be Audited

COLUMBUS —(U.P.)— A possibility appeared today that Ohio's six state universities would be included among the schools subject to the law providing for an audit of athletic department books now pending in the Ohio legislature.

The bill, as introduced by Rep. George Kirkpatrick, R., Knox, applied to high schools, but it was reported that an amendment might be offered to include the state universities.

A public hearing will be conducted on the bill by the house education committee Wednesday evening.

The amendment probably would provide for an audit of payments out of athletic funds at the six colleges. Any payment made to an athlete from athletic receipts thus would be made public.

Representative Kirkpatrick's bill provides that every board of education shall set up a fund into which the receipts from games shall be paid. The clerk of the board then would keep an account of all monies paid out of the fund, which would be subject to audit.

Try and Stop Me

—By Bennet Cerf

The company president, the assistant to the president and the executive vice president got into a heated after-hours argument on the subject of matrimony.

The president contended that matrimony was 60 per cent work and 40 per cent fun. The assistant to the president maintained that it was 75 per cent work and 25 per cent fun. The executive vice president said that it was 90 per cent work and 10 per cent fun.

At the height of the argument, Sheffield, the office slavey shuffled by—just a little late getting out. "Let's leave it to him," said the president.

Sheffield listened carefully to the argument and said, with an air of absolute finality, "If you will pardon me, gentlemen, matrimony is 100 per cent fun and no work at all."

"How do you figure that?" cried the astonished bosses.

Sheffield took a deep breath. "Very simple," he said. "If there was any work in it at all, you would have me doing it."

N-J Carrier Assembles Model Planes; Wants to Be a Pilot

For 2,329 days, Brothers Dean and Marvin Fyock, Gerald and Wilbur Hammett, Bob Prosser and Philip Dropsey have tossed the News-Journal on their customers' front porches.

Prosser is champion with 1,095 days as a newsboy. Dropsey ranks second with 365 days, the Hammetts third with 787 days, and the Fyocks, newcomers to the paper peddling business, have carried papers 182 days.

The 13-year-old Prosser lad has saved $100 from his work on Routes 95 and 42. Route 42 which he now carries pays better than 95 since it has more customers.

* * *

AN EIGHTH GRADE pupil at Johnny Appleseed junior high, Prosser is getting a head start toward realizing his ambition as a pilot by assembling model planes. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Judd Prosser, 211 South Adams street.

Another air-minded newsboy is Dropsey, 10, who goes to the Public library to browse several nights a week. While reading is his principal pastime, Dropsey "specializes" in "airplane stories" in his book shelf ramblings.

So far, he has saved $25, from Route 146 for that new bicycle he has his eye on. He a fourth-grader at St. Peter parochial school and the son of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Dropsy, 30 Bradford avenue.

The Hammett brothers can be seen going out South Diamond street every evening with their paper sacks. After the papers are delivered it's very likely that they'll both head for home and the ice skates or the basketballs

* * *

THEY STARTED a Route 105 last June with experience. They had carried papers to Little Washington in 1944. Profit from the 113 subscribers on the route nets them enough to take care of clothes, spending money and sports equipment.

Wilbur, 12, is enrolled in the seventh grade at Woodville school, and Gerald, 14, is finishing the ninth grade at Madison high. They are sons of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Hammett, 626 South Diamond street.

Another brother team is Dean and Marvin Fyock, sons of Mr. and Brs. M. H. Fyock, 429 Beethoven street.

Since August they've been carrying Route 38 which has earned them enough for clothes and Christmas gifts. While Dean, 14, is spending his spare moments working with Scout Troop 5 and swimming at the YMCA, Marvin is either adding to his marble collection or playing football "with the kids in the neighborhood.

Dean is in the ninth grade at Johnny Appleseed junior high and Darvin is in the fourth grade at Woodville school.

ELECTION ROLE LEAVES CIO IN RED $300,000

GOP, Democrats Came Out on Top Financially, Reports on Campaigns Reveal.

WASHINGTON — (INS) — The CIO went more than $300,000 "in the red" financially in an unsuccessful effort last year to elect favored candidates for public office.

This was disclosed today in campaign reports filed with the clerk of the house by the CIO Political Action Committee and its affiliated national citizens' PAC.

Total deficit for 1946 for the two political arms of the Congress of Industrial Organizations was $301,370.

The deficits were the only ones shown by any large political organization during 1946, other than Americans United for World Government, of New York. Americans United deficit totaled $21,946.

In sharp contrast to these red ink transactions were the campaign reports of the Democratic and Republican national committees, both of which ended the year with substantial balances.

Parties Show Balance.

The Democrats listed a bank balance Dec. 31 of $141,488, while contributions to the Republican war chest exceeded expenditures for 1946 by $279,676. The Republican national committee spent $817,728 in the campaign, compared to $1,737,677 expended by the Democratic national committee.

A report by the Hollywood chapter, Independent Citizens' Committee of the Arts, Sciences and Professions, listed contributions in 1946 of $126,059. The report did not reveal the total spent.

OHIOAN CONFESSES STRANGLING WIFE

LANCASTER —(AP)—Prosecutor W. C. Pickering said charges would be filed today against Frank Devore, 42-year-old punch press operator who told authorities he strangled his wife, Clara, 37, because "she was friendly with another man."

Police Chief Sam Hutsler reported Devore walked into police headquarters yesterday and described how he killed Mrs. Devore "with my hands." Held without charge pending completion of an autopsy, Devore said it took 20 minutes to strangle his wife, Hutsler added.

The couple's 12-year-old son, Robert, reported his mother's death to a neighbor and a police cruiser was en route to the Devore home when the husband arrived at the station.

Bishop Hits 'Adult Only' Rent Clause

COLUMBUS — (INS) — Bishop Michael J. Ready of the Columbus Catholic diocese took issue today with the recent decision of the Ohio supreme court which upheld the right of a Cleveland landlord to evict a war vetetran and his wife because of the birth of a child.

Bishop Ready told delegates to the Ohio Catholic Welfare conference in Columbus that "adult only" provisions in leases were "immoral, unjust and unnatural." He added that if legislation were necessary to correct such a situation, then "in the name of God let's have the legislation, and fast."

1-Man Army Asks Sergeant Rating

DENVER — (INS) — Maj. Arthur W. Wermuth, 32, who was the "one-man army" of Bataan, hoped today the army would make an exception in his case so that he could re-enlist as a master sergeant.

Wermuth killed 116 Japanese single-handed, but encountered difficulties when he sought to re-enlist. Army regulations require enlistment within 20 days of completion of terminal leave to receive a rank above staff sergeant, and Wermuth has been out of the army since last August.

DRIVER FACES CHARGE

COLUMBUS—(INS)—Second degree manslaughter charges were on file today against George H. Hailey, 40, of London, whose automobile struck and killed two Columbus men last Thursday. The victims, Oren T. Collins, 51, and John B. Goodman, 68, were the first in Columbus in 59 days.

APPROVES APPOINTMENT

CLEVELAND —(INS)— Re-appointment by Mayor Thomas A. Burke of William C. Keough to the Cleveland Transit System board stood approved today by city council. No action was taken in last night's meeting to name a successor to its General Manager Walter J. McCarter, who resigned.

BOY, 17, DIES AT BUCYRUS

BUCYRUS—Jon Eugene Brinkman, 17-year-old Bucyrus high school pupil, died at City hospital yesterday afternoon after a three-day illness. Stricken at his home Friday night, the youth succumbed to a multiple lung abscess.

Active in school organizations, Don was a member of the Senior Hi-Y club and the school choir. He also sang with the Bucyrus male chorus and was a member of the Church of Christ and its Sunday school. He was employed at the J. C. Penney store after school hours and on Saturdays.

Don was born Oct. 27, 1929, in Bucyrus, the only son of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence J. Brinkman.

Surviving him are his parents, four sisters, Mrs. Richard Shackelford of Bucyrus and Mrs. Donna Kanable, Evelyn and Alice Brinkman, at home, his maternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Shumaker of Bucyrus, and the paternal grandmother, Mrs. William Brinkman of Bucyrus.

Services will be held at the Church of Christ Thursday at 2 p. m. Rev. Wear Keener, pastor of the church, will officiate. Burial will be in Oakwood cemetery.

Farm Groups Hold Meeting

Approximately 70 persons gathered at Union rural high school last night when the Union Young Farmer club entertained the Lucas Young Farmer club.

Thomas Lersch, vocational agriculture instructor at the Union school, spoke on poultry problems, stressing factors of raising baby chicks. A basketball game was played by teams of the two clubs. Wives of the club members prepared a hot lunch.

The Lucas club will be host at a similar affair in the Union club at the Lucas high school next Monday at 8 p. m., Lerch reported.

COAL OFFICE RANSACKED

The Economy Coal company office on West Surry road was broken into early today, for the second time within a week, police were informed. The office was ransacked, but nothing was missing, a preliminary check showed.

GAS STATION owner John Clement of Delphos, O., is undecided as to what to do about his doberman pinscher "Monty." Left in the station to guard the place, "Monty" frowned burglars to walk off with the safe, but the cops who came around to investigate the robbery, and nipped an employe who walked through the front door without warning. TB Rehabilitation Service Shows Progress, Report Says

The Richland County Tuberculosis association's rehabilitation service, started less than two years ago, is making "slow but definite progress," the association's annual report showed today.

Main aim of the service is to help ex-patients find jobs in keeping with their physical conditions. Another objective is to "promote community understanding and acceptance of the ex-patient."

Mrs. Margaret Adams, executive secretary, in listing the association's activities for 1946, said that the new service, in its first 20 months, has made "slow but definite progress."

A number of ex-patients are now working, with medical recommendation, she said. "Without the guidance that the service provides these people could easily have drifted into some phase of work which would have brought about a re-activation of the disease," she said.

Last year 495 persons were examined during association TB clinics. Of the total, 30 were found to have TB. These figures are about the same as in 1943 through 1945. However, they mark a sharp drop in the number of positive cases compared with 1942 when there were 82 and in 1941 when there were 55.

Nearly half of the 30 cases were, through the clinic, discovered in their early stages and slightly less than half were found to be "moderately advanced," Mrs. Adams's report shows. Only five cases were "far advanced."

Again, the number of far advanced cases was about the same as recorded in 1944 and 1945, but marks a sharp drop from the number during 1943 and 1942.

Mrs. Adams said figures indicate the "program of tuberculosis control in our district is growing and showing results that are very gratifying."

BRAZEN KILLER ELUDES POLICE

LOS ANGELES — (U.P.) — The killer of Elizabeth Short—the "Black Dahlia"—continued, today to play a taunting game of "hare and hounds" with police.

The killer mailed police at least one and possibly two letters, the second promising to surrender at 10 a. m. Wednesday. But the first note contained insufficient fingerprints for identification of the sender and the second was utterly devoid of prints.

The two communications turned on a spate of clumsily conceived forgeries. One bogus note, mailed in Pasadena to the Los Angeles Herald-Express, asserted: "Dahlia killer cracking—wants terms."

The first letter, mailed Friday to the Los Angeles Examiner, contained Miss Short's address book, birth certificate, social security card and other personal effects. It promised "a letter to follow."

After checking the various notes, police turned to a round-up of persons listed in the Black Dahlia's "little black book." Significantly, however, two pages of the book had been torn out. Police believed the slayer's name might be listed on the missing leaves.

Mrs. Mary Wise Stricken at 80

Mrs. Mary Wise, 80, died late Monday afternoon at the Hammond Rest home after an extended illness.

She was born Feb. 6, 1886, in Richland county and had lived her entire life in this community. She has no known survivors.

Services will be held at the Geiger funeral home Wednesday at 10 a. m., with burial in the Mansfield cemetery.

AAA Committee To Discuss Plans

Richland county Triple-A township committeemen are scheduled to meet at 1 p. m. tomorrow in the club room of the Southern hotel for a discussion of the 1947 agriculture conservation program, Guy L. Taylor, county Triple-A chairman, announced today.

Joe Wilbert, Triple-A fieldman for this area, will be on hand to outline the program to the more than 50 committeemen expected to attend, Taylor said.

Mayor Tells Youth Of Opportunities

The great opportunities presented to youth in the Mansfield area without their needing to "go far from home" were presented to a group of sophomore, junior and senior Hi Y students last night by Mayor Roy W. Vaughn, of Mansfield. The meeting was held at the Mansfield YMCA.

The mayor spoke at a combined meeting of the clubs from Mansfield senior high school.

COFALL BARES OHIO LIQUOR PERMIT FRAUD

Investigation in Cleveland Extends to Other Cities.

withheld, said Jenkins, until the reports and licensees' files can be checked against records in the secretary of state's office as to when the clubs were incorporated.

* * *

Plans Refund.

Cofall announced today he was considering making a refund of all application fees deposited by persons seeking liquor permits. The applications, which have piled up in the department for several months, are reported to exceed 3,000.

This plan, Cofall explained, would enable the department to wipe the slate clean of all applications and "start again from scratch." New applications then would have to be filed by everyone.

Under scrutiny are 48 licenses for private clubs issued between Jan. 1 and Jan. 13.

While Cofall withheld his evidence of fraud pending completion of the investigation, investigators for the liquor department and Atty. Gen. Hugh S. Jenkins said they had found this:

That holders of several D-4 permits furnished only doubtful proof they were bonafide social clubs as required by law, and

That some private clubs with permits were unable to show they were operating on a non-profit basis, as also required by law, to get a liquor license.

The liquor director planned to confer today with Gov. Thomas J. Herbert, who ordered the investigation shortly after he took office Jan. 13.

Lausche, Herbert's immediate predecessor, also had requested an inquiry.

Governor Herbert asserted today he had instructed Cofall to "obtain the facts and act accordingly." Pointing out that the inquiry already had spread to other cities, he added it would "go as far elsewhere as is necessary."

Persons who ran the liquor department in the closing days of Lausche administration were not available for comment.

They include A. I. Balmert of Columbus, who was liquor director; Pat Radican, of Elyria, his executive assistant, and Harlan T. Chapman of Elyria, chief of the permit division and chief enforcement officer.

SENATE GROUP STUDIES PLAN TO HIKE RENT

House Leaders Back Action to Outlaw Portal Pay.

WASHINGTON—(U.P.)—The senate banking committee today was handed legislation for an immediate 15 per cent boost in rent ceilings, and there were indications of strong committee support.

The bill would end all rent controls April 30, 1948. It was introduced yesterday by five Republican senators — Homer E. Capehart, Ind., Joseph R. McCarthy, Wis., Harry P. Cain, Wash., George W. Malone, Nev., and Albert W. Hawkes, N. J.

Other congressional developments:

Secretary of Labor Lewis B. Schwellenbach went before the senate labor committee to present the administration's case against proposals for a new federal mediation board to handle labor disputes. The mediation board idea has strong congressional support.

* * *

Action Rushed.

House leaders put a "rush" label on legislation to outlaw portal-to-portal pay suits, after a warning that tax relief would be impossible this year if the claims were paid. In the senate a resolution was introduced to investigate claims that the justice department failed to protect the treasury's interest in the portal pay suits.

The senate atomic energy committee awaited an answer from David E. Lilienthal to its demand that congressional and military representatives be invited to meetings of the all-powerful atomic energy control commission. The committee is considering Lilienthal's nomination to be commission chairman.

On the economy front, Rep. George H. Bender (R.-Ohio), proposed that Republicans cut government spending to about 25 per cent less than that of Nov. 1, 1932. He said he selected that date because the late President Roosevelt "went into office on a program to cut federal expenditures at least 25 per cent, and my proposal would accomplish that end."

Seeks Budget Cut.

Rep. Charles W. Vursell, (R.-Ill.), recommended a $7,500,000,000 cut in President Truman's $37,500,000,000 budget.

The joint house-senate budget committee was called to an afternoon session to discuss a ceiling on government expenditures for the new fiscal year. Republican leaders expect it to be at least $3,000,000,000 to $4,000,000,000 lower than Mr. Truman's estimates.

Lt. Gen. Ira C. Eaker, deputy army air forces commander, was summoned before a senate air safety investigation to tell how radar landing aids might make commercial flying safer. A house committee also moved ahead with an inquiry into causes of recent air crashes.

Chairman Edith Nourse Rogers, R., Mass., of the house veterans committee, said a subcommittee would investigate the operations of veterans' administration hospitals. She said the group would give special attention to an apparent shortage of beds.

Sen. Claude Pepper (D.-Fla), was the first witness as a senate rules committee met to consider anti-filibuster legislation. Unlike most of his southern colleagues, Pepper opposes filibustering.

The senate public works committee continued its hearings on the nomination of Gordon R. Clapp to be chairman of the Tennessee Valley Authority.

TENNESSEE-BORN GRACE MOORE, 45-year-old star of opera, screen and radio, who died in the crash of a Dutch airliner at Copenhagen, Denmark, warbled her first song in a Baptist choir. The world-famous lyric soprano started in stage career in New York's 1920 musical, "Hitchy-Koo," and eight years later she sang the title role of "Carmen" at the Metropolitan. Her movie debut came in 1930, and in 1931 her marriage to Valentin Parera, now an invalid in Cannes, France. The popular singer was on a concert tour of the Scandinavian countries at the time of her death.

JAPS ASK U. S. 'LET US STAY'

PHILADELPHIA — (U.P.) — A group of 21 Japanese nationals petitioned the U. S. district court here yesterday to prevent their being returned to Japan to face "starvation, epidemic and chaotic" conditions wrought by the war.

The group is now interned at Seabrook Farms, Bridgeton, N. J., where they were brought during the evacuation of the west coast in the first days of the war.

The Japanese maintained that they were "wards" of the United States and of the United Nations and that it would be "contrary to the laws of humanity and of nations" to send them back to Japan.

Two of the Japanese, Eiiji Furukawa and Torachi Kono, have been in the U. S. for 42 years. One of Kono's sons recently was honorably discharged from the U. S. Army. The others have been in this country from five to 40 years.

Federal Judge William H. Kirkpatrick directed Attorney General Tom C. Clark, district immigration director Karl J. Zimmerman and Henry Beachwell, Seabrook detention officer, to show cause on March 24 why all 21 should not be freed. Beachwell also was instructed not to deport them until the court has heard the case.

Cynical Critic's Criticism Leaves Him Without Wife

HOLLYWOOD — (U.P.) — Actor George Sanders carried his film character as a critic of women into his home, his wife, Elsie Marie Sanders, testified today in winning a default divorce.

"He was rude and condescending to me, and refused to have anything to do with my family," Mrs. Sanders told Superior Judge Thurmond Clark.

"My husband called me stupid and treated me as though I wasn't intelligent. He also acted as though I were below his social level, and he didn't want people to know we were married," she added

Under a property settlement. Sanders will pay Mrs. Sanders $450 a month for 120 months and give her title to an apartment house.

Sanders, Hollywood's No. 1 cynic, last June told irate clubwomen who protested some of the nasty remarks he made about women in his film roles:

"Women are strange little beasts. I agree with that old verse: A woman, a dog and a walnut tree—the more you beat them the better they be."

BALL WOULD BAN UNION COERCION

WASHINGTON—(U.P.)—Sen. Joseph H. Ball (R., Minn.) has introduced legislation to make unions subject to unfair labor practice provisions of the Wagner Labor Relations act.

Ball proposes that unions:

1. Be required to engage in collective bargaining, as employers are now required to do.

2. Be prohibited from using coersion to interfere with the right of workers to designate their collective bargaining re[illegible]

His bill also would transfer to the department of justice function of prosecuting cases arising under the Wagner act. At present, the National Labor Relations board both prosecutes and hears complaints of unfair labor practices

For a
STRONGER, HEALTHIER BABY
Isaly's Homogenized Vitamin D Milk

Homogenized Milk tastes richer and creamier than ordinary milk. That's why babies like it better.

1. In Homogenized Milk the cream is evenly mixed through the milk.

2. Homogenized Milk is more EASILY DIGESTED because it has smaller butterfat particles than ordinary milk.

3. Every quart of Isaly's is fortified with 400 EXTRA Vitamin D units, the amount nutriiton experts say babies and growing children should have daily to help build strong bones and sound, even teeth.

Here is the difference between Homogenized Milk and ordinary milk . . .

In ordinary milk, the cream and milk are separate; the milk is not uniformly wholesome nor does each serving taste the same.

In Homogenized Milk, the cream is COMBINED with the milk, giving a smooth, creamy flavor. Every drop is forced through tiny openings at extremely high pressure. This produces nearly 10 times more cream particles and COMBINES them with the milk. Thus, there's cream through the entire quart. The "cream line" is really at the bottom of the bottle, because the milk and cream never separate.

Every serving of Isaly's Homogenized Milk is equally nourishing, equally rich and delicious.

Isaly's
Available at your grocery, Isaly Dairy stores and from your neighborhood Isaly milkman.

Greater Safety In Air Demanded

LAST week-end's record of airplane crashes adds to public concern over the appearance of even greater hazards of air travel than marked the earlier experimental stages of this highly modern means of speedy transportation.

The fact that the Copenhagen crash brought death to the popular American singer, Grace Moore, serves to direct more widespread attention to that tragic occurrance than would ordinarily be the case—but each of the 21 other victims was of equal importance, insofar as the value of human life is concerned, and it is this that should be taken into account when a record of air transport toll is compiled, regardless of distance from home and unfamiliarity with names of those who were killed.

Congress is being urged to action in establishing stricter rules for air transportation of passengers and airlines are under pressure to adopt more dependable safety measures than have thus far been attained.

Whatever may be the record of flight miles per fatality, the public impression of danger has become such as to considerably reduce demands for plane transportation, and this is a situation that dare not be permitted to continue if this is to become a common means of travel.

Visiting Nurses Are Being Missed

THAT old saying, "You never miss the water until the well runs dry," seems particularly applicable to recent discontinuance of Mansfield's Visiting Nurse service.

It appears that, for some reason, the past several years had been marked by a downward trend in the number of calls to such extent, and maintenance of the service was so costly per call, that its discontinuance was decided upon, with understanding that it could be resumed if a showing of need justified.

Whether or not the service, in its later years, functioned to the extent of its possibilities, has been a subject of considerable discussion, but this is a matter of administrative procedure rather than having a bearing on actual community need for the type of bedside attention required by many patients and which is not now available to persons in moderate circumstances.

Dr. Fred O. Tonney, who came to Mansfield recently as city-county health commissioner, has already recommended revival of the Visiting Nurse service, and points to the shortage of hospital space as an important factor to be considered.

Nursing personnel of the city health department, Dr. Tonney advises, is insufficient to meet the reasonable requirements of a city of Mansfield's size, and it seems inescapable that some urgent needs for home attention by a trained nurse are being disregarded.

This would appear to be of sufficient importance to justify further investigation, as to best means of remedying a weakness in Mansfield's public health service, coupled with a study of what is being done in some other comparable communities.

Limit Near On GI Insurance

NOBODY hates red tape worse than an ex-GI. So here's a tip to veterans: If you have failed to keep your GI insurance active, you have only until Feb. 1 to reinstate it without physical examination. Maybe you could pass the exam all right. But why bother with VA red tape? Get under the deadline.

National service life insurance is as sound as any. It is a little cheaper than insurance sold by most private companies because the government pays the overhead. Private insurance companies have unselfishly pointed out this fact to veterans so that they will understand the value of their national service policies.

Now is the time to get those policies reinstated if they have lapsed.

Book-Vending Slot Machines

There may be no more thumbing longingly through this volume and that, reading the first few pages, the middle chapter, the end, and then laying the book back on the shelf under the eyes of a patient and tolerant book seller.

A vending machine for books has been invented and one of these has been installed at a New York City subway entrance. It holds 96 books mounted on a revolving drum to permit the customer a quick look. A quarter in the slot releases the chosen volume.

The public has already had to learn to operate slot machines for cigarets, stamps, candy bars and gum, and will probably come to this book machine, too. But half the fun of buying a book will be gone when it can't be selected from a lot of other books which have been perused a bit and left in the book stall Many readers will hope the machines do not spread beyond New York.

Sweden Developing Tobacco Habit

THE AVERAGE Swedish citizen smokes three pounds of tobacco a year as compared with more than twice this much individual American consumption. Sweden's tobacco sales in 1945 totaled 115 million dollars of which two-thirds went to the national treasury through taxes. This represented more than two billion cigarets.

This looks like quite a lot of cigarets until a reader realizes it is a piker figure compared with smoking statistics in the United States. But then this country aims to be first in everything, even in acquiring habits.

Someone says that "feet" was intended instead of "miles" when the depth of Antarctica ice was reported as "15"—but either seems sufficient for natural deep freeze purposes.

Difficulty being encountered in finding a president for the World bank is being attributed to scarcity of men who have a glass eye in addition to other qualifications.

Soviet Ambassador Says Russia Has Developed A-Bomb Defense

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON—It took breath-taking Bob Gros of California to do what no diplomat ornewsman so far has done regarding the A-bomb and Russia. He got a hint from Soviet Ambassador Novikov that Russia has either the secret of the A-bomb or an adquate defense against it.

Gros, a California lecturer who annually interviews more Washington bigwigs in 24 hours than the average newsman does in one week, called on Ambassador Novikov the other day and at the end of his interview asked: "Do you have anything you wish to say to the American people"

"Yes," replied the ambassador. "You Americans should not rely too much on the A-bomb. Against France, Italy, Germany, yes. But against Rusia, no. You should not depend on it."

"That, Mr. Ambassador," suggested Gros, "sounds as if the Russians have developed a defense against the A-bomb."

"Yes," replied Ambassador Novikov, "this and more I do not wish to say anything further"

This significant statement ended the interview

More Women in Government.

President Truman's failure to appoint more women to high office was tactfully laid before the president by a group of ladies the other day.

Mrs. La Felle Dickinson, president of the General Federation of Women's Clubs, headed the delegation and told Truman quite frankly that women generally were disturbed because he hadn't appointed as many women to government jobs as Roosevelt had. She reminded the president that the state department had built up a roster of 80 well-known American women capable of handling important government work and urged him to bring the list up to date

Dr Katherine McHale, of the Association of University Women, was equally strong in urging the appointment of more women to government.

Truman replied that he would like to appoint more women to jobs but it was difficult to get the right person for the right job He mentioned General Marshall as a sample of a man who exactly fitted the job, and also told how he enjoyed appointing Mrs Roosevelt as a United Nations delegate.

Truman also paid high tribute to former Secretary of Labor Frances Perkins, whom he has made a civil service commissioner.

"Few people know just how fine a person Miss Perkins is," the president said "I watched her work very carefully as secretary of labor She did a wonderful job under very trying circumstances."

* * *

Woman Radio Commissioner.

Mrs Dickinson, Dr McHale and Anna Lord Strauss, of the League of Women Voters, all assured Truman that they had given Miss Perkins' nomination their full backing.

"I watched President Roosevelt work for a long time," Truman continued "I knew then, but didn't realize fully, just how large a portion of the president's time was taken in finding the right people for the right job I want you to know that nobody makes my appointments for me. I make them on the basis of my own judgment"

Mrs. Dickinson strongly urged the appointment of a woman to the existing vacancy on the federal communications commission, but didn't suggest any names.

The women's club leader pointed out that women make up the overwhelming majority of daytime radio listeners, yet had no representation whatsoever on the FCC (Some of the women present favor Marion Martin, former women's director of the Republican national committee, for the FCC vacancy; others are backing former Congresswoman Chase Going Woodhouse of Connecticut)

Mrs. Dickinson also proposed that a woman be named assistant secretary of state, because of the enormous interest and great stake that the women of the country have in keeping the peace. Truman said the suggestion was interesting.

Note—One idea some of the women have discussed but didn't mention to the president, was the appointment of qualified women as assistant secretaries of war and navy.

* * *

Marshall on Russia.

When General Marshall took the oath as secretary of state the other day, some of his old friends on the general staff recalled a hitherto untold incident which followed Marshall's sensational press conference in 1941, when he predicted the Red army would collapse like an accordion before the Nazis The incident illustrates that though Marshall can make mistakes, he also profits from them.

The day after Marshall's press conference on Russia, Gen. Leslie J. McNair, late chief of the army ground forces, walked into a meeting of the general staff and stated flatly he disagreed with his chief. Marshall, however, stuck to his guns, and cited Russia's inability to produce.

"George," replied McNair grimly, "you've made a mistake on Russia. I haven't seen their army, but it's a revolutionary army. You couldn't beat Napoleon when his was a revolutionary force. You couldn't beat Washington's revolutionary army, and you'll never beat Stalin."

What McNair said made a deep impression on Marshall.

Two years later Marshall was talking with a French general in Washington about the collapse of the French army.

"We couldn't fight," said the Frenchman. "Our weapons were out of date."

"That's not the reason," retorted Marshall "You could have fought even if you had 1905 rifles, but you didn't. France couldn't fight because it didn't have the courage to fight. You'll see, when the time of liberation comes, the French underground will be a revolutionary underground Then it will fight."

National Youth Week, Or, 'Give-Kids-a-Break.'

WASHINGTON — Probably there's no news in noting that this is "National Youth Week" across the country.

However, it's too bad that the name for the week dedicated to the nation's youngsters wasn't given a more thought-provoking title —such as, for instance, "Lets-Give-the-Kids-a-Break-Week!"

Then, substituting for a sort of national conscience, it might have attracted the attention of the people in the best position to help the youths of the country become good citizens.

I mean the parents and the school board members.

It is no secret that the rising rate of juvenile delinquency is one of the main reasons for the emphasis being placed on National Youth Week. The problem is one which often leads to nasty and inflammable tirades and sermons against the so-called "younger generation" by certain stupid, ignorant or hypocritical adults who, as often as not, are only trying to duck, sidestep or shrug off the responsibility and blame which is theirs.

For a rising rate of juvenile delinquency can be laid largely to those adults—due to the shortcomings of homes and schools—even though the nervous temper of our postwar atomic times unquestionably contributes to the cause.

Recently, Attorney General Tom Clark had a few pertinent points to make on that score. Before that, FBI Chief J. Edgar Hoover covered approximately the same field About the same time, the retiring chief of the secret service put in his nickel's worth on the same subject—and all three of them reached roughly the same conclusions.

So, incidentally, did the law-enforcement officers and educators this correspondent contacted in nine months of wandering through some 45 states during the past year.

Their conclusions are that majority of the blame for the uptrend in juvenile delinquency today lies in poor family relationships and inadequate educational and recreational facilities.

But let the attorney general talk for a moment:

"In this age of discoveries and advances, scientific and social, some parents fail to realize that they are still the most important influence in the lives of their children. Through them, children should experience affection, security and guidance, indispensable elements in child growth.

"The many cases of boys and girls in trouble whose difficulties are traceable to home factors should cause all of us to realize that a 'good' home is a necessary part in the lives of children, and a basic unit of society."

To that general consensus, let this correspondent add his own nickel's worth: in years of police reporting, I found that kids in trouble rarely had thoughtful, intelligent and affectionate parents, or else there was some family trouble, dissension, environment or situation which made home an unpleasant place.

So what are we offering youngsters today in that respect? History's highest upward curve in the divorce rate, the courts filled with an unprecedented crop of family controversies and the worst housing situation in modern times jamming two and three families into space originally designed for one.

And then we wonder why the kids run wild!

But what else does the attorney general say, that other officers and educators endorse? Well, this for instance:

"The schools play such a vital part in the lives of our future citizens that they should receive the unqualified support of every community . . . The teachers take charge of our children at an early and impressionable age and help to direct their lives through most of their childhood and adolescence. During school days character is shaped . . . every community should have a properly equipped school plant . . . Properly qualified teachers, who understand youthful behavior, should staff schools This means the payment of adequate salaries to teachers, for starvation salaries inevitably force good teachers into other channels of employment . . ."

So what are we currently doing in that regard? Closing down classrooms by the thousands, due to lack of equipment or proper instructors . . . driving qualified teachers out of the profession by the thousands, because of the starvation wages they are paid, and the antiquated regimentation system under which they are forced to live.

How we, as adults, can hope to breed other than a race of delinquents, malcontents and juvenile cynics, with that sort of treatment, remains a mystery to this correspondent—and to a lot of other people.

Maybe we sould devote this National Youth Week to solving that mystery and, through home and school improvements, devising ways of actually giving the kids a break!

Taft Looms Large In Senate Procedure.

WASHINGTON—In the weeks since the election Senator Taft of Ohio has built himself an effective organization in the senate—some critics call it a "machine"—that his friends expect to be useful in promoting his 1948 Republican presidential campaign.

It is generally conceded that he has become the outstanding leader and dominant force in the Republican congress. In the past a group of influential senators often has proved quite an asset to a candidate at conventions, both Republican and Democratic, and Senator Taft has helped several such to key spots in the new senate.

His personal triumph has caused in recent days a re-assessment of his changes for the nomination. Up to this time, Governor Dewey of New York has seemed well in front.

It is, of course, too early to begin measuring comparative strength, and there are pitfalls in the way of a senator ambitious for the nomination that do not lie in the path of an outsider who has less chance to stumble so far as the public at large is able to detetct.

The Ohio senator is not party leader by title. That belongs to the modest, self-effacing and mild-mannered Senator White of Maine. Mr. White usually sits quietly in the aisle seat on the front row on the Republican side of the chamber, like a well-behaved teacher's pet.

Meanwhile Senator Taft is up and down speaking for the party and managing it from his own place in the middle of the Republican side, like the brash student who is always jumping up with the answers or for an impromptu discourse. No one has any illusions about who is the boss, including Senator Taft.

The public has come to regard Senator Taft as the party spokesman in the senate, because he always is and thus gets the headlines. His colleagues, too, so regard him and, by and large, accept his decision on strategy and policy.

Senator Taft's assumption of leadership has been interesting to watch. It was not by accident, and not over-night. The senator, as will be recalled, gathered other leaders about him here in advance-in his capacity as steering committee chairman, and they parceled out the choice assignments. What has happened since has worked out according to plan.

The risk faced by such a leader as the Ohio senator is revolt in the ranks, on personal grounds or issues. But revolt thus far has been limited.

The senator, too, has another advantage over the long pull. On strictly social and economic issues, including labor, there are only a few dissenters from the Taft and regular Republican philisophy—chiefly Senators Tobey, Aiken (R., Vt) and Morse (R., Ore.). On such issues, their defection, if it occurs, would be offset by support for the Republican viewpoint from southern Democrats.

Two of those men are associates on the senate labor and welfare committee, of which he is chairman—Senators Aiken and Morse. He may be able to bring them closer into line because of the obvious moderation of his own views on labor legislation and because of his sponsorship of health, education and housing measures.

Because of these last items in his legislative aims, his friends now say proudly that some business interests are beginning to call the senator a "radical."

This, of course, is a matter of degree, and is not taken seriously. But it all helps in the senator's buildup for the nomination.

Senator McKellar Continues "Grudge Fight."

WASHINGTON — One of the blessings flowing out of the Republican victory last November is that Sen. Kenneth McKellar of Tennessee has been removed from a position of power. But this must be considered a mixed blessing, since it gives the 77-year-old senator more time to carry on his grudge fight against the Tennessee Valley Authority and everyone connected with it.

Somewhere back in the mists of time, Sen. McKellar failed to get certain of his henchmen onto the TVA pay-roll. The TVA is run strictly on a civil service basis.

This last in itself would be enough to draw down the wrath of the senator, who has always held the old-fashioned view that victory at the polls entitles you to reward your friends and punish your enemies.

The senator has been carrying on a running campaign of harrassment against Gordon Clapp, whom President Truman named as TVA chairman to succeed David Lilienthal when the latter was appointed chairman of the U S. atomic energy commission Clapp, for seven years, has been general manager of TVA.

He came up from his office in Knoxville expecting to be questioned about his personal qualifications for the chairmanship in the senate committee hearing, on his nomination. Instead, in several days of testimony, he was quizzed on the entire operation of TVA. Without prompting from any technical assistants, he displayed a remarkable knowledge of the authority and of its function under the act originally adopted by congress

Under McKellar's hectoring, he was patient but firm. Sen. Chapman Revercomb of West Virginia, chairman of the public works committee holding the hearing, declined to let McKellar take over the session as he has sometimes done in the past. The other members of the committee, all newcomers to congress, followed Clapp's testimony with careful attention.

Now McKellar is concentrating his grudge on Lilienthal, whose appointment is before the senate section of the joint congressional committee on atomic energy. Unblushingly the senator recounts his hatred of Lilienthal and his determination to wreak some vengeance on him If that makes the difficulties of government in this period, when power is divided between a Republican congress and a Democratic president, just that much greater, then it is too bad.

In his attack on Clapp, the senator wanted to know if TVA had sent engineers to Russia. The answer was no. The facts behind this particular bit of anti-TVA propaganda are simple.

In the fall of 1942, the Soviet purchasing commission in this country asked the lend-lease administration to furnish plans for dams to be constructed behind the Urals These dams would replace other installations destroyed by the Germans. The request was passed on to TVA through the procurement division of the treasury, and TVA complied with the request.

This, of course, was at the time when Russia's allies were hoping and praying that Moscow and Stalingrad would not fall and that the Nazis would be stopped short of their goal. It was at the time when everything possible was being done to sustain the Soviet armies.

Presumably this will be part of McKellar's attack on Lilienthal, who was chairman of the board of TVA when the plans for the Russian dams were prepared. This bit of bogey-waving is so absurd that no one can take it seriously.

President Truman had difficulty in persuading competent and trustworthy men to accept places on the U. S. atomic energy commission Prospective candidates knew that they would be subjected to the kind of petty vindictiveness in which Sen. McKellar specializes. That is perhaps the chief reason why it is hard to get good men to take Washington jobs.

Farmer's Diary: "Known By Their Fruits."

I HAVE never met the man, yet I know him well. He lives in a sunshiny new house on the top of a high hill, in a college town where I just never happened to visit. His home reflects himself, for he is an artist It is furnished with great charm

His fine wife is his favorite companion. They are often seen together strolling "lover's lane," he with "Momma's" violin case tucked under one arm and Momma under the other.

College students love him. They call the art department, where he has headquarters, "the freest place on campus Each of those enrolled in his classes "paints the thing as he sees it," with the certain knowledge that the instructor will understand, because he has been that way before, many times. "Young girls," he was heard to remark once, "remind me of young horses Too sudden an idea scares them."

One of his own best paintings is a vast canvas which some do not appreciate because it is such a common scene—just a corn field, with a mammoth cornshock and pumpkins indistinctly screening the shadowy foreground, and with the light upon the far-off hills.

"He dares to make the foreground indistinct," remarked a discerning student. "He dares to make it big and blurred, and to put the light way off ahead—where it belongs! He knows—and he catches the feel of it"

No. I never yet met the man. But I should like to.

I HAVE never met this woman, either. All I know of her, actually, is what she wrote in a single letter She lives in Altoona, Pa., and she has mothered nine sons—six of them her own, aged 42 to 28, and the other three orphans, 21, 20, and 15. The last one is still in high school

She has been accused of being born "30 years too soon," but it doesn't worry her. She was reared on a farm in Huntingdon county, "where when bedtime came we all went to bed and not out at 12 o'clock for a big night"

She's "agin" putting "our youths' minds in low brackets, through so many movies of poor actors, low living standards and murders" She believes in "better home environment and training, and better examples by parents."

She has used "kind words and shed some tears when any of her boys erred from the straight path" —but she asks "where can a boy go to spend an evening in good environment away from beer or half dressed women and girls?" She offers her letter, all or in part, "for it may reach some home and help." She ends her short note with "for God only knows the heart aches of mothers who always have boy interests at heart."

(You'll recognize her, as I did. She's one of the typical "good mothers" of America.)

Bedtime Stories

—By Thornton W. Burgess

ALONE BUT NOT LONESOME
He to himself is quite unknown
Who never is at times alone.
—Old Mother Nature.

Kitty the Catbird had appeared in the dear Old Briar-patch in the middle of winter when Peter Rabbit supposed him to be in the far away Land-of-always-summer where he always had spent winters. He had explained that this time a strained wing had kept him from making the long flight.

"You haven't told me where you are living now," Peter said.

"If you must know I am living over in the cedar swamp. In those trees I can keep warm as long as I have plenty to eat, and when the weather is too bad for me to leave the swamp cedar berries are right there to keep a fellow from starving. As soon as a storm is over, I can go to Farmer Brown's house and be sure of finding plenty that I can eat and enjoy. In bad weather it is never too bad in that swamp," explained Kitty

Peter understood how this could be because he had known Welcome Robin to spend a winter in that very swamp and had visited him there. "You said that Mrs. Kitty went south as usual, so I suppose you are alone over there in that swamp," said Peter.

"Of course. Other birds visit there now and then, but none of my family," replied Kitty.

"Aren't you lonesome?" asked Mrs. Peter, who had been listening.

"No," declared Kitty. "If I were down in the Land-of-always-summer I would be alone just as Mrs.

"Aren't you lonesome?" asked Mrs. Peter, who had been listening.

Kitty is alone down there. That doesn't mean that she has no feathered neighbors. She has plenty of them, folks from up this way, and others who live down there all the time. What I mean is that we Catbirds do not stay together the way some others do. We separate and scatter and live alone. Then when it is time to come back up here we get together again. It is a good thing for one to be one's self once in a while. No one really knows himself unless he is alone now and then. We are alone because we want to be, so of course we are not lonesome."

"What is it like down there?" Peter asked.

Kitty the Catbird chuckled. "You would have to go there to know what it is like. You wouldn't believe me if I tried to tell you what it is like there, and about some of the folks who live there. I don't like not being believed," said he.

"Is it like it is up here in summer?" Peter persisted.

Kitty shook his head. "Everything is different. The trees are different, the vines and flowers and fruits are different. Even the grass, where there is any, is different. The folks who live there are different. I mean the folks who live there all the time. No, it isn't at all like it is up here, not even the weather," said he.

"The weather has to be either warm or cold, and we have both kinds here," said Peter.

Kitty shook out his feathers and spread and closed his tail two or three times. "Peter," said he, "you don't know what real hot weather is, and you don't know what rain is, and"—— "I do too," know what rain is. Don't be silly," Peter interrupted indignantly.

Again Kitty shook his head. "Not really. What I mean is that in the hardest storm you ever have seen not half as much rain fell as falls at one time down there. A storm doesn't last long, but in just a little while more water falls than falls up here in a whole day. It is like it would be if the Smiling Pool were taken up in the sky and then the bottom fell out of it and dropped all the water at once."

"I don't believe it," declared Peter, then added hastily, "I mean it is hard to believe."

"I told you you wouldn't believe me," retorted Kitty the Catbird. "I don't know that I blame you," he added.

"Does it rain like that every day?" asked little Mrs. Peter.

"In the rainy season it does. Down there there is a wet season and a dry season instead of winter and summer. My, my, my, how it rains when it does rain!" replied Kitty.

"I don't think I would like the Land-of-always-summer," said Peter.

The next story: "In the Land-of-Always-Summer."

Barclay On Bridge

EVERY fine player wishes he could get more help in the effort to kill—as if they were snakes—the old playing rules which were so useful in Whist, when many factors had to be deduced or guessed, but which cost millions of tricks in bridge, when the dummy is exposed and other information given by the bidding. Chief among these poisonous rules are "second hand low, third hand high," "cover an honor with an honor," "return your partner's suit," and "don't finesse against your partner." Plain common sense is a better guide, telling when to do the reverse of those rules and when to follow them.

That bidding was okeh, even though South had no club stopper for his No-Trump bid. He could count on North as almost sure to have something in that suit, considering his own red card strength, and anyway he had four clubs, which would cut down the adverse club tricks if the defense ran the suit.

West, reckoning that South would be prepared for the probable lead of the unbid major, double-crossed South by picking a club, the 10. East won the Q with the K and returned the J. then the 2 to the A. With his club 8 now established, South saw he could not possibly get nine tricks unless he established some spades. So he finessed the heart Q to reach his hand, then led the spade 3.

"Second hand low," said West to himself as he played the 6, and dummy the 10. East—who never refuses to take a trick he can win, unless he is a declarer holding up an ace—won that with his Q. When the diamond 5 was returned, South used his A, finessed the spade J, dropped the spade K with the A and ran two more spades. The heart A then gave him his ninth trick.

West in playing low was worse than East was in taking the first spade. If he had put in the K, he would have limited South to one spade trick—none if he ducked and then finessed.

Horoscope

For Wednesday, Jan. 29.

Conditions generally must be read as adverse and unpropitious for any sort of progressive and lucrative ambitions or objectives. It is probable that the physical condition may be at the root of a frustrated and stagnant situation, and there is little hope of assistance or cooperation from outside efforts. In fact there may be antagonism and opposition from others, with various undercurrents. In such circumstances it might be as well to take it easy, care for the health and nerves, not resorting to explosive or angry indulgences. Square harmony in home relations.

Those whose birthday it is have not a forecast for a progressive, productive or constructive period, in any of its contacts and relations. In fact, there is definite promise of friction, strife and blocked endeavors, due to open conflict with those in important places and as well secret undercurrents of antagonism. This might be owing to a lowered state of heath, with taut nerves, overstimulated emotions and temper, with a tendency to explosive and tumultuous conduct. A program of rest, relaxation and diversion, with little strenuous effort, might prove a long-term benefit and tentative happiness. An optimistic outlook helps.

A child born on this day may have a temperamental and tumultuous disposition, with much to incite and aggravate opposition. Its physical and nervous condition may need attention.
